ANNOUNCEMENT

Mrs. J. K. Armstrong announces the engagement of her daughter Miss Anne L. Armstrong, of Madoc, Ont., to Mr. Laurence Ferrier of Vancouver, B. C. The marriage will take place at 2 p.m. on December 15 at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mrs. Carman wishes to announce the engagement of Earla Aileen, only daughter of Mrs. Carman and the late Mr. Clarence Carman to Mr. Alfred Vernon Lavender. The marriage will take place in December.

ST. PETER'S WOMEN'S CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

The monthly meeting of the Young Women's Club of St. Peter's Church was held on December 4th at the home of Mrs. K. West. The call to worship, prayer and the singing of "Hark the Glad Sound: the Saviour Comes", opened the worship period. The Bible lesson was taken from Luke 1:26-38 on which a brief address on the Virgin Mary was based. This period concluded with the reading of the Magnificat, prayer and the singing of "The Race that Long in Darkness Pined Have Seen a Glorious Light." The president, Mrs. K. Nicol, then took the chair. The secretary's report was read and approved and 12 members responded to the roll call.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Miss L. Connor was in charge of the program, the theme of which was "Emblems of Christmas." Brief authoritative accounts, and some legendary, were read of the early introductions of the Christmas Tree for Christian usage, the Holly, the Mistle-toe and the Poinsett.

The president then outlined the year's eventful endeavors and fittingly thanked all members for past co-operation after which the club moved a vote of thanks to her.

The slate of new officers was presented by the convener of the nominating committee, Mrs. W. Hill, who also moved the adoption of same and it was carried.

The new officers are: Honorary President — Mrs. Wm. MacIntosh.

President — Mrs. Norman Whytock, First Vice Pres. — Mrs. J. W. Symon.

Second Vice President — Mrs. J. A. Watson.

Secretary — Miss L. Connor, Press Secretary — Mrs. Mabel Clark.

Treasurer — Mrs. E. McCracken, Devotional Convener — Mrs. Eric Larsen.

Final plans for the Sunday School Christmas Tree were then made and Mrs. K. Nicol read "Good Intentions" as an enjoyable conclusion. The hostess, assisted by Miss L. Connor, served tea when a social half hour was enjoyed by all.

M. A. A. PLANS FOR HOCKEY SEASON

(By Bud Fischer)

At an executive meeting of the Madoc Athletic Association on November 28th plans were laid for activity during the 1945-46 hockey season. The outcome of these discussions is indicative of the Association's sincere desire to provide sports and recreation, of the highest calibre, for the youngsters of Madoc. It is a pleasing fact that in so doing the M.A.A. also provides interesting and exciting entertainment for us older members of the community.

The Madoc Athletic Association is going to sponsor a Midget team in the Ontario Minor Hockey Association this year, and this bystander predicts that the kids will do alright. I guess its too much to expect an Ontario championship in their first year, but believe me, if the youngsters could win it through application of enthusiasm alone they'd be a cinch, and we could dust off a spot on the shelf for the Harry Nixon Trophy right now. Group play has been asked for, and the O. M. H. A. have promised to do all possible to assist. Strenuous local efforts are being made to assure the boys' competition in such a group. Incidentally that in charge of the club have asked that parents of boys eagerly awaiting a try-out for the team see that their certificates are in order. It is a strict ruling of the Ontario Association that every player must register his date of birth by presenting a certificate issued by the Registrar-General of the Province in which he was born. For that reason parents are respectfully requested to check up on this matter right away. There'll be no time for that once the boys makes the team. So please don't disappoint him, or yourself, by not getting us all set for our first season.

It was also pointed out, at the meeting, that the pleas of our school aged boys and girls (for more free skating) could not be properly looked into because of the lack of time available at the arena for that purpose. The M. A. A. is definitely going to do something about that this year. An outdoor cushion is to be erected between the present rink and the road. This ice surface will be for kids only — a place where they can skate to their heart's content. So you'd better get those skates sharpened up for Christmas!

Another welcome item of interest to come out of the M. A. A. conference is the news that they will again sponsor a senior team in the Madoc Hockey League, thus assuring you, and you, and you, of another hockey season full of thrills, excitement — and a few laughs. And we hear that the Madoc Hockey League meets this week to set in motion events leading to our enjoyment of that brand of hockey. We are told, on good authority, that the League will operate under O. H. A. rules this year, which will be a big improvement over the type of play witnessed last season. Most of the teams will be strengthened considerably by returning warriors — this holds particularly true for the Madoc club — so we should be well rewarded in our attendance. We'll be seeing you at the rink I guess. M-m-m, I wonder if I can get a good seat in advance?

FORMER MADOCER DIED IN FLORIDA

Friends here learned with regret recently of the death of a former Madoc, James Stoneburg, a well-known lacrosse player here, several years ago. For the past number of years he resided at Winterhaven Florida and died in Miami, at the home of his son, Edward, on November 18th.

ARMY FILM SHOWS CANADIANS IN ACTION

The rubble-filled streets of Caen or the sandy, water-filled foxholes of Holland were all in a day's work to advancing Canadian infantrymen, and are all shown in the army film "The True Glory" which presents the story of the European war from D-Day to VE-Day. They presented different problems but the Canucks tackled them cheerfully, intent only upon the destruction of the German enemy. Left, above, a Canadian patrol picks its way carefully through the ruins of Caen searching out German snipers. At right, a Canadian section armed with flat and mortar waits the signal to attack across the Dutch border into Germany.

EUROPE'S HUNGRY CHILDREN

Nearly a billion people—90 million in Europe and ten times that number in China, India, and other places in the world—face starvation this winter.

That is the grim reality reported by food experts of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

This picture, reported by spokesmen for Greece, is typical of the grave world food situation:

The Pappas family lives in a fairly large city near Athens. Mrs. Pappas has a teen-aged son and daughter. Her husband is a day-laborer. Marketing is her day's big chore. It varies a little. Some days Mrs. Pappas gets more, but usually she can buy about half a pound of bread for each mouth a day.

Most of the time she can get three ounces of dried peas or beans for each person, maybe one codfish for all to share, a tiny bit of olive oil and a handful of raisins. She can usually get potatoes too. They are rationed.

UNRRA Helps

It's a celebration when she gets a can of Army meat stew. This happens about once a month after a shipment from UNRRA has arrived at the market.

Mrs. Pappas is too tired to worry about the strange things that are happening in her family.

She doesn't understand that the diet of about 1400 calories a day for each member is responsible. It's the reason her husband only goes to work about three times a week in spite of her scolding. It's the reason her son isn't growing and only sits stupidly in the sun all day.

It's the reason her daughter refuses to help clean up their tiny little hovel and has a chronic, hacking cough. It's the reason her baby died last month when it was only a few weeks old. Hardly any babies seem to live over a couple of weeks any more. Half the population of one section of the city died last month.

Food supplies vary within and between countries. Greece and Italy are about average. Poland, Yugoslavia, Austria, Germany and Finland have less. Austria is believed to be in the worst shape. People in France and Czechoslovakia get a little more than the Greeks. Norway's condition is not critical.

TRULY REMARKABLE is the "Radiant Roast" used in the manufacture of Maxwell House Coffee. It captures all the flavor and goodness because it roasts every coffee bean evenly, all through!

ITALY—Emaciated woman holds underfed grandson whose mother died of a disease which took half the village. He will be lucky to last until spring.

CHINA — Weak from hunger, these Chinese poke around in the ruins of a village looking for scraps of food. They fight to survive the winter.

'OOPS, SORRY!' SAYS HERMANN

Even in the shadow of a possible death sentence, the fallen No. 2 man of Nazi Germany remains an irrepressible clown while on trial at Nuremberg. In top photo, he laughingly explains a point to grim-faced Rudolf Hess as they sit in defendants' box. But (bottom photo) Hess almost smiled and Von Ribbentrop looked over with amusement when, on the same day, Goering clapped his hand over his mouth in an "Oops, sorry" gesture after making a remark out of turn.

ROYAL BANK APPOINTMENTS

Sydney G. Dobson, Vice-President and General Manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, whose appointment as Executive Vice-President is announced.

Burnham L. Mitchell, Toronto, newly appointed Director and Vice-President of the Royal Bank, has been Assistant General Manager since 1935. He will continue to make his headquarters in Toronto.

James Muir, Assistant General Manager for the past ten years, who succeeds Mr. Dobson as General Manager of the bank.

GREECE—Daily ration of bread—about half a pound per person—is brought home by little Greek girl in a captured German helmet.

Most people who live on farms get at least enough food to maintain health. Persons in the small urban communities are the most hungry. They don't produce food and can't draw from the stocks sent to the big cities. They haven't the money or goods to get food directly from the farmers. Little is known about the food supply in Russia except that it is inadequate, but better than it was in the war years.

Chinese mothers aren't worrying about getting enough rice, wheat or dried fish merely to stave off hunger. Their families have been hungry for the last 10 years. This year they are worrying about which ones in the family will be dead by spring or if they will all be dead. Same is true in India. Average diet in these two countries varies from 2,000 to less than 1,000 calories per day.

In most of Europe, parts of the Near East, and all of the Far East and in North Africa, countries desperately need imports of food. Most countries in South America will be able to get along without threat of starvation. England and Australia need food but expect to get along on rationing through the winter. Sweden is just about able to get along, and by pinching, can share some with needy neighbors.

CHAPTER X

"I can take care of old man Harper. He owes me money."

"I wouldn't talk to too many people about this well, Mr. Mason," Gary advised. "If you get a wildcat down and it turns out to be a producer, the wise thing to do would be to shut it down and keep quiet about it. You might want to get leases on the other land that touches your pool."

"I don't want a lot of land. All I want is a good oil well. And I've got a fat chance to keep this well quiet. Everybody in the county knows about it already."

"That's because you've talked too much," Mona Lee said. "You send that wire off to Junior now, Harvey, right away."

"All right, all right, Mother, don't shove me!"

"Would you speak to Adelaide before you go to Austin about taking me over to the oil fields in the car, Mr. Mason?" Gary asked.

"Hey, Addie!" Harvey raised his voice in a whoop as he went down the stairs.

Adelaide was waiting in the car when Gary went down. "All right, mister," she said. "Here's your taxi."

"Thanks a lot, I hope I didn't interfere with any of your plans?"

"I was supposed to be playing bridge at Grace's, but she can just find somebody else. She's being snippy anyway, and Oliver goes around telling people that Dad's crazy and will probably go broke."

At Gary's direction Adelaide turned into a muddy little road that twisted between stumps, over frail wooden bridges, past leases, each one fenced carefully with good steel fence, past batteries of tanks and little shacks with rickety cars standing in the yards and dreary looking clothes flapping on lines. Lean, faded women came to the doors of these shacks, looked out hopefully, patiently watched them pass; dirty children scrambled out of the road; dogs slunk into bushes—the hungry, vague, hopeful fringe of humanity that fingers on the edge of every oil field. The men, muscled and lean, waited for roughneck jobs, pipe-laying jobs, any scrap from the vast, teeming feast of exploitation.

"Now we have to look for a well that's just been finished," Gary said, "where there's an outfit standing waiting to be moved. And then, after we find an outfit, we have to persuade them to move twenty miles or more on to a wildcat job, and that will be a selling job too, for mostly they don't like wildcats very much."

"How can you tell a well that's there's one over there. See that derrick with the red mud piled around under it and all the machinery still standing? Well, it's down and cased in and the Christmas tree's set up—so I know it's finished."

"I don't see any Christmas tree. You're crazy, Gary."

"See that contraption of pipe and wheels and stuff sticking up out of the hole in the floor? That's what oil men call a Christmas tree!"

A rickety trailer was parked under a tree, and beyond lay an unshaven man of middle age, with his hat dragged down over his eyes and a small white dog curled up in a sleepy knot on his chest. The dog sprang awake and came charging, yapping, as they approached, and the man sat up.

"Know who owns this drilling outfit?" Gary asked.

"Sure I know—Hymie Starr owns it. Go up yonder and talk to Jim Hickey. Up in that shanty with the red front on it, just beyond that machine shop, towards the stripper, Jim's a good driller—good as there is."

Jim Hickey talked glibly and eagerly. He would, so he promised, get a well down quicker and cheaper than any other man around.

Gary came back and said, "Let's go. His stuff is old. He hasn't got the money to have it overhauled. We'll look somewhere else."

He folded the grimy paper on which Jim Hickey had estimated his drilling costs, and put it in his pocket. I'll show this to your father, but he probably won't want to risk Hickey on the job."

It was dark when they turned back toward the ranch.

Gary sat alone with Mona Lee for a while, listening to the radio, then went upstairs to his room to write letters—to oil men that he knew, asking for a job.

He had finished the third epistle when he heard Mona Lee coming up the stairs. She stopped outside his door and said, "I thought you'd gone to bed. Gary, would you go over to Grace's place with me? She telephoned—and it's late, and Harvey doesn't like it if I drive alone at night."

Gary got up quickly. "Of course. Is someone sick?"

Mona Lee hesitated, looking worried and unhappy. "No, I guess it's just one of Oliver's sprees. Grace was crying, and she said she had to talk to me and Oliver had left the car in town, so I told her I'd come."

They locked all the doors and left the key in the asparagus-fern box for Adelaide, and Gary held the flashlight while Mona Lee backed the car out of the garage.

The Kimball house was a new, smart white bungalow on the edge of the little town and, as they drove in, every window was lighted.

"Oliver's not home," Mona Lee said. "Grace is scared when she's alone and she turns on every light. You wait here, Gary, till I find out what she wants to talk about. You can turn on the radio—I guess it works."

A lighted door opened and she disappeared inside, so Gary leaned back and snapped buttons and tried to interest himself in a dance band and then in a news broadcast.

And then that door opened and Mona Lee came out and came around to her seat, getting in beside him without a word. Gary did not ask questions, and the silence lasted till they were almost back at the ranch. Then Mona Lee slowed the car and drew a deep, weary breath and sighed patiently.

"Grace and Oliver have had some sort of a fight—and she says it's about her father's oil well, but she doesn't dare tell me what it is. And Oliver's gone off and never even said good-by."

Gary said, "Too bad to worry you like this, and then not tell you what it's all about, so you can help."

"It's all a gamble anyway—and just talking about it hasn't been good for any of us. Harvey Junior paying two thousand dollars for a car—and his father letting him do it, and Adelaide making all kinds of crazy plans as if her father were a millionaire already."

"They'll settle down," Gary tried to be comforting. "I wouldn't worry too much."

Harvey Mason went off to Austin, looking strange and dressed up in his Sunday clothes, his saddle-colored face very dark above a shining white collar. He had fumed because Mona Lee forbade him to wear his boots or his big cowman's hat.

"If you're going to be an oil man you'd better look like one," stated Mona Lee firmly, "and not like some old cow waddy."

PARAPUP SURVIVES WAR—AUTO GETS HIM

"Paratrooping was never like this," groans Trooper, parachute-jumping cocker spaniel, former mascot of the 46th Parachute Field Artillery Battalion. He's pictured "hospitalized" in the Memphis, Tenn., home of his owner, Capt. William Lewelling, after being run down by a hit-run driver on a Memphis street.

CHRONICLES of GINGER FARM

By Gwendoline P. Clarke

Really, I honestly believe that Christmas sneaks up on us faster with every passing year. A few weeks ago it seemed ridiculous even to be thinking about Christmas. And then the weeks just rolled away and here we are almost catapulted into such things as the middle of Christmas shopping, preparations for Christmas concerts, gift problems, poultry picking, Christmas cakes and puddings, invitations received or given, tax bills, and advance notice that instead of "dreaming of a white Christmas" we should be preparing for it. That's a regular jumble, isn't it? But you know very well that the way it goes. No one that I ever knew was able to give his or her undivided attention to Yuletide preparations, least of all on a farm.

Take this place, for instance. Now that we have ordered our turkey and invited six house guests for Christmas it behooves me to think about puddings and things. But do you suppose I can settle to it with the threshing machine sitting like a black menace in the middle of the yard. It has been there for three days waiting for decent threshing weather. You see it is closer we shall be threshing and for that we need cold weather. Yesterday it was cold enough to please anyone—ten above by our thermometer—but then yesterday was Sunday, so that settled that. However, last night we did go so far as to arrange to thresh Monday afternoon. But now the weather has turned soft again—it is up to thirty-seven degrees and I don't know whether to prepare for threshers or not. It's a great life, this farming! But yet I don't know of a better one. However, let's get back to thoughts of Christmas.

Ladies—I haven't told you about my advance Christmas present, have I? I'll tell you now because then if you are interested you might casually hand this paper over to your better half with the remark—"There now—there's an idea for Christmas!"

Well now, this thing that I am referring to is a "pressure cooker." You have seen them advertised, haven't you? Personally, I have been reading the descriptive advertisements in American magazines for two years, I also knew enough about a pressure cooker to know it would be a jolly nice thing to have. It is rather an expensive thing to buy but I wouldn't put it in the luxury class because I feel the money is well spent because it saves time and fuel, and, more important still, food cooked by pressure is nicer and more nourishing than done any other way because none of the natural juices have a chance to escape. For instance, take a cheap cut of meat, add to it the necessary vegetables and you have a stew that really is a stew—flavoursome, nourishing and quick. The time between unwrapping the meat and serving the finished stew, complete with dumplings, need not be more than half an hour. Macaroni and cheese can be on the table in fifteen minutes. Carrots in ten minutes. Scalloped potatoes, twenty minutes. I could go on and tell you more, but isn't that enough? The time I have given you includes preparation time—because, after all, all food must be prepared before any cooker can do its work. I might add I have had my cooker over a month and I don't think a day has gone by without my using it at least once, often twice each day.

There are several makes of pressure cooker on the market now, either of aluminum, stainless steel or metal alloy of some kind. Ours is the latter. I believe all makes work much on the same principle. They are perfectly safe and easy to operate if used according to directions, but I hate to think what would happen if the lid were forced open before the steam had been allowed to escape—there is a little gadget on top for that purpose.

Unfortunately, so many people are inclined to take chances around the home. Chances which so often result in an accident that could often have been avoided had the parties concerned taken just a little more time. We are all in such a hurry these days. But I ask you—in a hurry for what? What is so important that we cannot take reasonable care so that disasters such as burns and scalds shall not occur? The death of little children as a result of fires started hurriedly with coal oil or gas is absolutely criminal.

Gift Suggestion

Because everybody saves and collects something or other, any body, man, woman or child, would love to have a glorified letter file as a Christmas gift. They are attractive, useful, inexpensive and so easy to make.

The letter files may be purchased for about 25 cents. For the covering you may use fancy gift wrapping or any leftover wallpaper (the wallpaper makes a sturdier cover). A linen mending tape with a glue backing is used to bind the edges. This tape makes a neat finish, serving also as a reinforcement to the corners. With the application of a generous coat of bakelite varnish, the letter file becomes very shiny and entirely professional in appearance.

Sunday School Lesson

EXALTING CHRIST IN THE LIFE OF THE NATION

Lesson: Isaiah 9:2, 3, 6, 7;
Luke 1:26-33.

Isaiah 9:2.—The inhabitants of the region of Galilee were represented as walking, or living, in darkness because they were far from the capital and had few religious privileges; they were comparatively rude and uncultured. The language of the prophet refers to the time when the Messiah would come to that dark region and become both its light and its deliverer.

3.—This joy would be a holy joy because it would be before the Lord. It would be a joy over blessings received as the figure of the harvest indicates; and joy over evil averted, as the figure of dividing the spoil indicates.

6.—It would be 700 years before Christ came in to the world, but the present tense is used because of the absolute certainty of the promise being fulfilled.

The Government has been placed upon His shoulder; He has been given all power in "Heaven and in Earth." He is Wonderful; this title implies that He will be exalted above the ordinary course of nature and that His whole manifestation will be a miracle.

He is Counselor; the word is expressive of great wisdom and of qualifications to guide the human race. He is the Everlasting Father for in His divine nature Christ and the Father are one. Finally He is the Prince of Peace. He has made peace between Jew and Gentile and He will yet usher in an era of universal peace.

7.—In contrast to all earthly kingdoms which have their rise and fall, the Kingdom of Christ knows no end, for it is an everlasting kingdom and will perpetually extend its boundaries.

Mary and the Angel

Luke 1:26-30.—The angel's word of salutation "Hail" is equivalent of joy be with thee, implying she was truly honored to have the privilege of giving birth to the world's Redeemer, the Son of God. Mary was not troubled with doubts and unbelief, but with confusion at the honor bestowed on her. Mary had no cause for fear but rather for joy, for she had found favor with God.

31-33.—The message of the angel revealed to Mary that her Son should be Jesus The Saviour. He was coming to redeem Israel, to save His people from their sins—and not Israel only, but all the world. The House of Jacob means the descendants of Jacob. His own name was changed from Jacob to Israel, and thus his descendants were called the children of Israel. The Kingdom of Christ shall never be destroyed. It shall stand forever.

BACKACHE The Plague of Outdoor Men

The outdoor man, whether he be farmer, truck driver, or railway operator, is often subject to backache. This may be the result of exposure to cold and dampness or the result of strain from the jolting and bumping of the vehicle he rides.

To many people, women as well as men, it would be great to be free of backache—one of the most common and annoying of ailments. And here is how you may be relieved of backache and other symptoms of poisons in the blood.

The treatment suggested is Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. By reason of their stimulating action on both the liver and kidneys, you have two chances to one of getting relief from your backache by using Dr. Chase's Pills. The torpid liver is aroused to action, the kidneys are stimulated and consequently these organs help to purify the blood of the poisonous impurities which bring pains and aches and tired feelings.

Keep regular and keep well by using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills. 35cts. a box.

LEGION TWENTY YEARS OLD

Twenty years ago on Saturday last the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League was born, partly as an aftermath of the first great war. To-day, with 20,000 added to the rolls this year, it is re-born, and greatly strengthened for the tasks looms on the horizon of new post war years.

It has been a long, hard road from that day in Winnipeg when representatives of ten chartered war veterans' organizations amalgamated into one body to form the Legion and become the watchdog for rights and welfare of those who fought in the first Great War. The inspiring influence behind this great organization was the Right Honorable Earl Haig, commander-in-chief of the British forces in France, who, after the defeat of Germany, began a campaign of unity... to unite
the servicemen into one solid body...
embracing the entire British Empire.

Twenty years have passed and the Legion can look back with pride to the work it has accomplished. In the second Great War it has worked ceaselessly for the service men as will be seen in the following statistics:
1,600 libraries at camps and training stations in Canada alone, during the war; a whole corps of teachers mobilized in the forces conducting educational courses in which 115,000
young Canadians participated; 322,791 personal cases handled, 123 moving picture machines operated; 36,162,048 sheets of notepaper distributed; establishment of radio message service enabling relatives in Canada to broadcast to their boys overseas, and millions of cigarettes distributed.

STARVATION IN CENTRAL EUROPE

Writing from Geneva, Switzerland, Robert Root, Worldover Press Correspondent, has painted a dark picture of the food situation in Central Europe. He says that victims of Hitler's concentration camps were reduced to starvation on a diet of 1,500 calories
a day, but that now people in Vienna and in the Tyrol, receive only 750 to 850 a day. He quotes as his authority for this, Dr. Robert Boehringer, Director of the Joint Relief Commission of the International Red Cross. Mr.
Root's report continues:

Famine has come to Central Europe. A recent report of the Health Department in Vienna, speaking of children under one year, asserts: The physical condition, cases of disease and infant mortality in Vienna are, today, worse than for about forty years. Veteran relief workers know this means that babies are worse off now than after the last war, when they thought they had seen record-breaking misery in the Austrian capital.

In Germany the situation is so bad that six ships of 10,000 tons each would be required every day for six months, in order to supply the population with enough food this winter

NEW DRUG STRONGER THAN PENICILLIN

London, Nov. 22.—A German drug, said to be 500 times stronger than penicillin, is being made synthetically
in England and tested by the Medical Research Council.

It is known to the Germans as 3065, and can be made radioactive for clinic trials. It has been christened
'atomic penicillin' by British workers.

The drug was discovered by Professor Richard Kuhn of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Heidelberg, who refused the Nobel prize in 1938 under a Hitler decree. It is prepared from salicylic acid—the basis of aspirin—
and bromine, a poisonous red liquid.

Professor Kuhn claimed the drug could be made radioactive by first bombarding the bromine in a cyclotron—a large atom-smashing machine.

At clinical trials doctors said they could trace the exact path of the drug in a patient's body and study its effect on germs.

A writer who has just visited all sections of Germany states in the conservative Journal de Geneve that under Hitler children of less than three years of age received more than 1,250 calories a day, and older children 1,500 to 2,300 calories. What a contrast, he exclaims, with the rations of July and August this year.

In many regions, children get no special rations, he points out. In Heidelberg at the end of July, nursing babies were given only half a pint of milk, and if this tiny quantity gave out, the mothers too weak to nurse
the new-born, gave them watery soup.
Children over three got, each week,
the same rations as adults: 1,000
grams of bread, 75 grams of oil, 150
grams of meat, 500 grams of potatoes. Vegetables could hardly be found.
This ration represents about 500 calories per day. The doctor cited to him cases of children between six and twelve weighing only 17.6 pounds.

When we remember that the Swiss Federal Food Commission considers 2,000 calories as a daily minimum, says Dr. Loehringer, while the Joint Commission quotes 2,400 and when we read that the inmates of concentration camps were condemned to gradual starvation by receiving 1,500 calories, we cannot but feel deep concern at figures of 760 calories in Vienna and 850 calories in Tyrol.

This is an appalling picture of suffering and hunger. Food is going in from this Continent, but a great deal more is needed, if tragedy is to be averted.—Napanee Beaver.

WEDDING

HOLMES—HAILSTONE

A quiet wedding was solemnized on
Nov. 24 at 12 noon when Mary Aileen
Hailstone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
J. E. Hailstone, Madoc, and Edgar Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. D.
Holmes, Queensboro, were joined in marriage by the Rev. Eric Larsen in St. Peter's Presbyterian Manse, Ma-doc.

The bride wore powder blue crepe
with black accessories and a corsage of sweet heart roses. She was attended by the groom's cousin, Miss Fay

Fleming.

The groomsmen were Mr. Ted Hail-stone, brother of the bride.

A wedding dinner was held at the home of the bride's parents.
For the wedding trip the bride wore a wool frock of old gold with black coat and accessories.

On their return they will reside in Peterborough.

Extracts from Report — November 7th, 1945 By JULIUS MESSER, M.E.

"VEINS: A great shear zone 100 to 200 feet wide crosses the property diagonally in the northwest, southeast direction for over 3000 feet in length. As the weather was within a few days of freeze-up it was impossible to systematically sample this shear zone in such a short time, but efficient sampling was done to show the value of this zone. Quite large samples were taken over a width of 100-200 feet wide and a length for 1500 feet and gave the following results:

| Sample | Oz. Gold | *Value   | Sample | Oz. Gold | *Value  |
|--------|----------|----------|--------|----------|---------|
| 1B     | .57      | $ 19.95 | 6B     | .03      | $ 1.05 |
| 2B     | .16      | 5.60     | 7B     | .34      | 11.90   |
| 3B     | 3.95     | 138.25   | 8B     | 2.52     | 88.20   |
| 4B     | .05      | 1.75     | 9B     | 3.00     | 105.00  |
| 5B     | .24      | 8.40     | 10B    | .06      | 2.10    |

(*Gold at $35.00 per ounce)

"On the southeastern part of the property a vein 10 feet wide has been uncovered consisting principally of quartz showing good mineralization of iron pyrites and some native copper. Three samples gave the following results:

|                        | Oz. Gold | Gold at $35.00               |
|------------------------|----------|-------------------------------|
| Betty B. Group No. 1 A | .21      | 7.35 Footwall (native copper) |
| Betty B. Group No. 2 A | .01      | .35 Centre of vein            |
| Betty B. Group No. 3 A | 1.36     | 46.70 Hanging Wall            |

"CONCLUSION: In the immediate vicinity of this part of the country some very interesting and important discoveries have been made recently.
The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company has completed 30,000 feet of diamond drilling on the Try Me group adjoining Betty B. to southeast which points to important developments.

"Betty B. group has the right geology with great shearing and the high values obtained in sampling leads one to the belief that this property has the makings of a mine."

The General Manager,
The Dominion Bank,
Toronto, Ontario.

We report that we have examined the above condensed Balance Sheet as at October 31st, 1945, and compared it with the books at Head Office and with the certified returns from the Branches. We have examined the cash, and the securities representing the Bank's investments, held at Head Office and certain of the larger Branches as at October 31st, 1945, and in addition we examined the cash and the securities held at certain of the important Branches during the year. We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and in our opinion the transactions of the Bank which have come under our notice have been within the powers of the Bank.

In our opinion the Balance Sheet discloses the true condition of the Bank and is as shown by the books of the Bank.

WEDDING

MARTIN-LEE

A quiet wedding took place in St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc, on December 1, when Helen Irene, daughter of Mrs. George Lee and the late Mr. Lee, Madoc, and John Sinclair, son of Mrs. Charles Martin and the late Mr. Martin, Belleville, were joined in marriage by Rev. W. J. Robinson.

The bride looked charming in a street-length frock of robin's egg blue with black accessories. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Thomas Smith, Kingston, who wore lime green with black accessories.

The groom was attended by Pte. Thomas Smith, Kingston.

George W. Spinney, president, and B. C. Gardner, general manager, who addressed shareholders at the Bank of Montreal's 128th annual meeting.

Inflationary Pressures Greater Now Than During War, Declares Bank Of Montreal President

George W. Spinney Tells Bank of Montreal Shareholders Of Anti-Inflationary Needs

GENERAL MANAGER B. C. GARDNER REVIEWS MOST ACTIVE YEAR AT 128TH ANNUAL MEETING—HIGHLIGHTS BANK'S LOANING POLICY

Montreal. — George W. Spinney, President of the Bank of Montreal, told shareholders at their recent 128th annual meeting that inflationary pressures were probably greater now than at any time during the war and urged continued voluntary restraint as a means of offsetting this danger to the nation's economy. He declared that it was desirable to have some of the war-time controls remain in operation, but that these controls should be constantly watched to make certain that they do not interfere with rapid reconversion to peacetime economy.

Speaking at the same meeting, B. C. Gardner, general manager, reviewed the most active year in the history of the bank and told of the B of M's contribution to the financing of the war effort and of the many "human relationships" arising out of the financial problems of customers, both of large and small means, particularly the latter.

Stimulus to Production
Mr. Spinney said he knew of no better stimulus to production than healthy competitive effort, free from unnecessary restrictions, seeking to fulfill the myriad desires of consumers at home and abroad.

"As never before," he said, "Canadian business and industry in the years immediately ahead will need men with new ideas and with the capacity to put these ideas into effect."

Speaking of social security projects and suggestions, Mr. Spinney said it would be very nice if "we could all live on government cheques, but life on this planet being what it is, someone has to plough and reap, to plan and build, to exercise qualities of initiative, foresight and daring; and only this totality of productive effort can provide a real and enduring basis for material welfare and economic security."

"Nothing could be further from my intent," he continued, "than to argue that social security measures are without value to the community, but," he added, "we would deceive ourselves and others if we accept and promulgate the idea that security can emanate effortlessly from government, acting in the role of benevolent and bountiful provider. Government can distribute no benefits that individuals through their labor, do not provide."

Problems of Peace
Canadians, both those in the fighting forces and those at home, had a right to be proud of their mighty war effort, he said, adding that after six years of conflict a certain amount of war weariness was not unnatural. "But although we are war weary," he continued, "the problems of reconstruction will not bide our time. The post-war era about which so much has been written and said is no longer a theoretical abstraction. The post-war is here and now; and with it comes the realization that, in its own way, peace will make its demands no less than war."

New Peaks Recorded
A new high in total assets of $1,715,934,000 was reported by B. C. Gardner in a review of the recently released annual statement. He noted also that deposits had reached a new peak at $1,613,429,000 during the year, an increase of almost $200,000,000 over last year's total. Quick assets for the bank were reported at $1,464,326,000 and holdings of Government and other securities at a total of $1,117,938,000 were announced.

Mr. Gardner said that, in the absence of an adequate demand for commercial loans, the bank also made some purchases of securities in the open market, thus helping to maintain a ready market for Victory Bonds and other government securities in the hands of the public.

He made it clear, however, that the function of the bank as a purchaser of Government securities had arisen from circumstances largely beyond the bank's control, in that the wartime expansion of industry had been accomplished largely through direct Government financial assistance and without the aid of bank credit in form of loans. "We are hopeful," he said, "that as industry resumes its normal patterns, and as civilian business replaces government contracts, the lending function of the bank will take on increasing importance and scope."

Personal Loans Increase
He noted that there had been a welcome increase in personal loans and stated, "It is not our policy to encourage people to incur unnecessary debts but we believe that our personal loan facilities may play a useful part in a well-ordered financial programme and may be used by borrowers in a manner fully consistent with the principles of thrift and sensible management of their affairs."

"This bank does not deal in money alone. In our day-to-day dealings our managers and staff are concerned with the many human relationships arising out of the financial problems of our customers, both of large and small means, but particularly the latter, who seek assistance from a reliable and trustworthy source."

Mr. Gardner said that the problems of the returning war veterans were receiving special and sympathetic attention.

7,000 Canadians Wed Dutch Girls

More than one in every 20 Canadian soldiers returning home from Northwest Europe will take home with a Dutch, Belgian or French bride.

Already more than 10,000 applications for permission to marry have been approved on the Continent by Canadian Army authorities and applications have increased to a daily rate of 40 in spite of repatriation of more than half the original force.

Most of the new Canadian wives are Dutch—7,000 of them. They become citizens only upon entry into Canada.

With 30,000 wives and children awaiting movement to Canada from Britain, it is likely it will be some time before the European brides are shipped across the Atlantic. However, it is proposed to move some on Dutch freighters sailing direct to North America.

Soldiers may also take their fiancées to Canada at their own expense but only after the Immigration and External Affairs Departments have approved.

Canadian Ayrshires Go to New Zealand

The Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association has announced the sale of four noted pure-bred Canadian Ayrshire bulls to Giff and Fred Hutchings of Potorua, N.Z., and said it was probably the most choicely bred lot of Ayrshires ever exported from Canada.

The bulls purchased were Burnside Topman from R. R. Ness and Sons, Howick, Que.; Avonside Lucky Gift from George Pearson and Sons, Waterdown, Ont.; Braheid Barr Request from W. D. Black, Waterdown and Mynates Swaney King from Col. W. E. Phillips, of Orillia, Ont.

The bulls will be used as sires in New Zealand.

Japs in Canada To Be Repatriated

There are about 24,000 people of Japanese origin in Canada of whom 75 per cent are Canadian citizens, about 14,000 or 61 per cent of the total were born in Canada.

It is the policy of the Government to repatriate to Japan all Japanese who in act or obvious intent were disloyal to this country during the war and also others who were indicated by a survey made early in 1945 that they wanted to return to Japan. It is stated that the survey was an entirely voluntary one, that no coercion of any kind was used. Including children of those signing there were 10,347 or 43 per cent of the total involved in the request for repatriation.

To Racecourse From Stable By Flying Horsebox

The European demand like that of the rest of the world is mainly for essentials such as textiles and household goods, and British manufacturers are turning out these goods as fast as they can. At the same time industry is showing a remarkable versatility in meeting the widening demand for non-essential, luxury goods, says the United Kingdom Information Service. A flying horsebox is the latest product designed for a specialized market—racegoers. Intended for the transport of racehorses, it has been developed by a United Kingdom airplane company as one of the many uses for their new plane. A prototype will be shown this month and the plane will be in production by the new year. The flying horsebox opens up the prospects of the runners for next year's Derby or Grand Prix being flown from their stables to the course on the day of the race. This system of horse transport will probably prove very popular since horses do not suffer from air sickness. The idea is not a new one—mules and pack horses were transported by air to Burma to assist the British Fourteenth Army in jungle war.

"Churkeys"

Australia's first churkeys—a cross between turkeys and chickens have just been hatched at Glenfield, New South Wales. It is said, however, that Russian scientists had already produced the cross.

The chicks walk like turkeys but look more like ordinary chickens. It is expected that they will mature more quickly than turkeys but be a good deal smaller.

Here's our Christmas wish

We wish we could guarantee a Long Distance telephone line to everyone who is planning to exchange Christmas greetings with distant friends. We know how eagerly thousands of people look forward to this annual telephone visit. But holiday traffic will be heavier than ever this year. Even with all operators on duty and fullest possible use of equipment many calls may be uncompleted.

We can only say that, as always, we will do everything in our power to disappoint as few as possible.

One thing YOU can do—make your greeting calls as far ahead of Christmas Day as possible!

TRINITY W. M. S.

Trinity W. M. S. enjoyed a splendid Christmas program at the parsonage on December 8th. The meeting was opened by Mrs. P. Caverly with a Christmas reading. "Each Christmas challenges us to make the world ready for the coming of the Prince of Peace" and a prayer of gratitude and thanksgiving for the love He has given us, for human fellowship and friendship.

A short business period was conducted with yearly reports presented by the secretaries. Due to the stand taken over the Japanese - Canadians' question it was decided to send a resolution to the Government asking for postponement of this act.

A service of Christmas carols and readings was an inspiration to all, beginning with a story "A visit to Bethlehem" which was a beautiful description of the country of our Saviour. Candles were then lighted on a table which revealed a lovely arrangement of the nativity and a poem "Candle Light, Burning Bright" read, which added significance to the scene. The Christmas passages from the Bible were read, depicting the story of our Lord's Birth, beginning with the Old Testament prophecies. The lovely carols sung, interpreted this wonderful story anew. Solos graciously given by Mrs. Hulin and Mrs. A. Poultier delighted all and added much to the Christmas spirit of the meeting. Closing with the Benediction, a social hour was then enjoyed with the hosts.

BANNOCKBURN

On Wednesday evening, Mrs. Oscar Wannamaker was taken by surprise when a number of ladies called to offer birthday felicitations. A very pleasant time was spent, after which a presentation was made and a dainty lunch served.

Mrs. F. Harris spent the week end in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Conley and family visited friends at Steenburg on Sunday.

Mrs. Gertrude Connor, Tweed, spent a few days in town.

Miss Mary Lloyd, Northbrook, was a Sunday guest of relatives.

We are glad to report that Mrs. H. C. Lloyd, who underwent an operation at Belleville Hospital last week is progressing favorably.

Rev. F. Wicks, Coe Hill, called on Mr. and Mrs. Conley one day last week.

of Thelma E., of Vancouver, daughter of Mrs. McKasen and the late George McKasen, of Winnipeg and Mr. Murney Herrington, recently released from R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Rillis Herrington, of Rawdon Township. Given away by Mr. E. Runion, the bride wore a white satin dress with sweetheart neckline and full length veil embroidered in silk. She carried yellow chrysanthemums with fern and streamers.

Miss Doris Lumis, of Belleville, was maid-of-honor, wearing a gown of fuschia georgette with matching headress and carried mauve chrysanthemums. Mr. Standwood Herrington, of Stirling, brother of the groom, was best man. Mrs. R. Herrington, mother of the groom, wore blue sheer dress with corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Runion wore a green flowered two-piece dress with corsage of pink carnations.

A dinner at 5 o'clock for the immediate relatives was given by Mr. and Mrs. E. Runion at 211 Ferrie St. E. and after a reception at 7.30 when about 60 guests assembled.

The bride and groom left for New York City, where they will spend a short honeymoon.

For travelling the bride wore a fuschia wool dress with matching hat and Hudson Seal coat.

They will reside at 105 Victoria Ave., Hamilton.

BLACK FLAGS on U Boats

When Nazi U-boat commanders hoisted black flags of surrender, it was a "go ahead" signal to the three out of every eight Canadians who normally depend for their livelihood on export trade.

For five years the flow of foreign trade has been largely a government responsibility. But now, to help create peacetime jobs, Canadian enterprise must do its full share in finding customers abroad. This means doing business all over the world, in strange and distant cities, in a hundred languages and currencies.

Canadian banks have a key role in this complicated but essential peacetime task. Every day their foreign branches and correspondents arrange credits, handle documents and perform other intricate operations to bring buyers and sellers together across the obstacles of distance, language and custom.

This banking service is of primary importance to business and to every Canadian worker as Canada turns to the task of recreating trade abroad to provide jobs at home.

TRINITY WOMEN'S CLUB

On Tuesday evening, December 14, Trinity Women's Club held their Christmas meeting in the church parlours, decorated appropriately for the occasion.

The meeting opened with hymn "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling." The minutes were read and approved and the Roll Call was taken. A yearly summary was received from the treasurer, Mrs. Murray Smith, the War Work convener, Anna Smith and the Sick Committee convener, Mrs. Hulin. The president, Mrs. Beatty, outlined the various events undertaken by the club during the year and fittingly thanked all members for past co-operation. Special reference was made to the good work of the Social convener, Miss Olive Ashe. A resolution of appreciation and gratitude for Mrs. Beatty's work in the club was presented by Miss MacDermid.

The nominating committee, Mrs. E. Burnside, Mrs. D. Drinkwater, Mrs. J. Smith and Miss H. Mutton presented the slate of officers for 1946, as read by Miss Mutton.

Past President—Mrs. Beatty.
President—Mrs. W. Hulin.
1st Vice-Pres.—Miss E. MacDermid.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Hubert Nickle.
Secretary—Mrs. G. S. White.
Assistant Sec.—Anna Smith.
Treasurer—Miss Olive Ashe.
Social Convener—Mrs. Chas. Johnston.

Press Secretary—Mrs. D. Drinkwater.

Pianist—Mrs. M. Rankin.
Assistant Pianist—Mrs. Wheel.
Sick and Visiting Convener—Mrs. Murray Smith.

Finance Com.—Mrs. Jas. Irwin, Mrs. W. Parks, Mrs. A. Parks, Mrs. Poulter, Mrs. White, Mrs. Burris.

The report was approved and adopted.

The programme was prepared by Mrs. L. Ashley who gave a reading about Palestine. Mrs. T. Burnside read a candlelight poem as she lighted a number of candles about a manger scene. Another reading was given by Mrs. Ashley, followed by a poem by Mrs. Burnside. The remainder of the programme consisted mainly of carols, each followed by a short reading. Mrs. Hulin gave a lovely solo "Christmas Night", accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ashley.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem. Lunch was served and a social time followed.

HOCKEY CLUB HELD MEETING

A meeting of the Madoc Hockey Club was held at Blue's Hotel on Dec. 17th.

The President, Mr. Bud Fischer, outlined the ideals of the Madoc Hockey Club and the conditions under which they would operate with regard to the Marmora Hockey team and the youngsters of Madoc.

Mr. Thos. Rupert congratulated Bud Fisher on his efforts put into hockey, both in the past and present. He also stated that the reason Marmora had been granted permission to use the Madoc Rink as home ice was due to the fact that the Madoc Rink Co. were under the impression that Madoc would not enter a team in the Trent Valley Hockey League. Mr. Rupert went on to say that he would like to see Madoc continue in Trent Valley League and he was personally behind it one hundred percent. He also suggested that in applying for donations that not only the businessmen, but also the moneyed men of the town, be canvassed. It was then suggested by the President that each member be given a certain group to contact.

Jack Henderson was appointed coach which he in turn accepted. Everett Alexander suggested that Saturday night be the deadline for a written agreement from the Madoc Rink Co. that the Madoc Hockey Club holds the franchise for hockey competition at the Madoc Rink and such an agreement be signed by the president and secretary of the Madoc Rink Co. and also that two nights a week be set aside for hockey practice, by the Madoc Hockey Club. This suggestion was read in the presence of the President of the Madoc Rink Co.

A meeting was held at Blue's Hotel on December 16 to appoint officers of the Madoc Hockey Club. The following appointments were made:

President—Bud Fischer.
Sec. Treas.—Jack Baker.
Vice Pres.—Jerry Keller.
Hon. Members—Judd McGowan, Presley Nickle, Bogey Alexander, Dr. Beatty, Lloyd Blue, Tom Caverly, Tom Rupert, Jack Kincaid, Harry Tate, Geo. Duffin, Jas. Watson.

MADOC TO PLAY TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE HOCKEY

Hockey fans throughout this district will be glad to learn that the old Trent Valley Hockey League will function again this season, with Tweed, Madoc, Marmora, Norwood, Campbellford and Batawa being represented.

A double schedule will be played which will give each team ten home games. The season opens on Wednesday, January 2nd.

GIFTS PRESENTED RETURNED MEN

On Thursday evening Madoc citizens once again welcomed home active service personnel at Madoc Armouries. Reeve Geo. West acting as chairman voiced words of welcome to those of the service. A short program followed with the Johnson Orchestra providing several numbers, two songs were also given by High School students with Mrs. L. Ashley as accompanist. The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Fred Wilson, Warden of Hastings County and M.L.A. for Hastings West. At the conclusion of his address Reeve West presented the following with pen and pencil sets. Lt. N. S. Jean Whytock, A. B. Archie Walden, Stoker, Ralph Smith, Gunner Jack Martin, Pte. Tom Belcher. Words of thanks were voiced by N. S. Jean Whytock on behalf of the boys and herself.

CAPTAIN JOE NAYLER AWARDED M. B. E.

Award of the Member of the Order of the British Empire to two Hastings County army officers and to one Prince Edward County officer was announced by the Department of National Defence at Ottawa. The awards were included in a list of 486 to personnel of the Canadian Army in recognition of their services overseas.

Hastings County officers to receive the M.B.E. are Acting Captain Joseph J. Nayler of Madoc, and Honorary Captain Archibald S. McConnell of Stirling. The one Prince Edward County officer to receive the award was Captain George Edward Baldwin of Northport.

Captain Joe Nayler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nayler, was born 25 years ago and received his education at the Madoc Public and High Schools.

He enlisted in 1942 at Kingston, Ont. with the Prince of Wales Own Regiment and was sent to Gordonhead, B. V. where he received his commission. After being stationed at Camp Borden and Peterboro, he proceeded overseas in June 1943.

After serving in England, he was sent to North Africa in November 1943 and from there joined the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Italy. Later he was transferred to Headquarters First Canadian Infantry Bde as liaison officer where he obtained the rank of Captain. Captain Nayler remained with the First Infantry Bde through Italy, France, Belgium and Holland.

He returned home with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in October of this year and received his discharge in November.

Joe plans to enter business with Nayler's Garage in Madoc. Three uncles, Major E. T. Nayler, John Nayler and Percy Nayler, saw service in World War I.

COOPER AND REMINGTON W. M. S.

The Christmas meeting of the society was held at the home of Miss Viole Moorcroft. Due to an epidemic of children's diseases the attendance was only eight. Mrs. Ferguson opened the worship service, with hymn 47 "O Come All Ye Faithful" followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. A Christmas carol was response to the roll call. Minutes and offering followed.

In the business part of the programme the January meeting was arranged to meet at the home of Mrs. Stanley Rollins with Mrs. A. Bird as group leader. A pot luck dinner and quilting will also be held early in the New Year at the home of Mrs. Will Rollins when committees will meet and reports be filed out.

Mrs. Earl Ferguson was appointed member from the society on the Crusade.

A slate of officers was handed in by a nominating committee which were accepted. Installation to take place during church service Sunday p.m. The Christmas Carol Service was followed from the Missionary Monthly with Mrs. Rex Rollins taking charge and Rev. G. Patten leading in prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants.

WANTS HUNTING, FISHING SEASONS REDUCED IN ONTARIO

Hastings County Council at its closing session on Friday unanimously endorsed a recommendation requesting the Provincial Government to reduce the periods of the hunting and fishing seasons in Ontario.

Reeve George West, Madoc, in moving the recommendation, told council that if Hastings County is to attract the tourist business it needs good roads, good fishing and good hunting. He also included in his recommendation that three assistant game and fishery wardens be appointed to this county.

"The regular men are over-worked," he said, "and cannot do their jobs properly. One man cannot be at both ends of the county at the same time. Consequently many fishing grounds of the county are being neglected."

The hunting season, in his opinion, should be cut down to ten days instead of two or three weeks. A number of game and fishery associations in Ontario have already passed resolutions to this effect and he felt that the county of Hastings should follow suit.

By reducing the length of the seasons and adding to the staff of the game and fishery officials, Reeve West said he felt that the more game and fish available in the county, the more tourists would be attracted here. As it is much of the tourist traffic is being diverted to other parts of the province. This could be brought back to Hastings if the proper procedure regarding hunting and fishing was taken.

The motion carried by a unanimous vote.

IN MEMORIAM

DAFOE—In loving memory of our dear son, Alvin George, who passed away Dec. 20, 1943. Two years have come and gone Since one we loved so well Was taken from our home on earth With Jesus Christ to dwell The flowers we place upon his grave May wither and decay But the love for him who sleeps beneath Shall never fade away. Sadly missed by mother and dad.

CANDLELIGHT SERVICE

The Christmas Candlelight Service in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church has become a tradition. It would be a disappointment to many if such services were discontinued. Again this year the members and friends of St. Peter's may gather in the church next Sunday evening for this annual event. The service will begin at 8 o'clock so that friends of the surrounding community may be able to attend. It is expected that a larger audience than ever will take part in the first peacetime Candlelight service singing the old Christmas hymns. The minister's theme will be "The Light Shone in Darkness". At the morning service the theme will be "Peace on Earth."

DEATHS

Christmas 1945

THIS is a special-kind of Christmas—the first in seven years without the darkness of war.

At last we are free to celebrate the season in the old-time way.

Our loved ones are home. The candles will gleam brighter now, the balsam boughs will breathe a more pungent fragrance, and more sweetly than ever will carols ring... as if in answer to a world's prayers for peace.

But none will forget—now or ever—those fallen sons who sacrificed their lives that we might know the joy of Christmas again.

In their honour and to their glory we worship at home and shrine. And in our hearts shall we resolve to do those things which keep us strong and in the right—the best way of all to banish war forever.

In this, we shall be men who think of tomorrow—men of good will, making sure of even better Christmases to come.

CHAPTER XI

At dusk Gary and Adelaide returned from another trip over into the oil fields, and Mona Lee noted how sober Gary's face was. He handed her a sheaf of papers. "Will you put these away carefully, Mrs. Mason, till Mr. Mason comes back?"

Mona Lee looked at the figures. "My gracious, Gary, does an oil well cost as much as that? That's more than Harvey makes in a year!"

"Think how much he'll make when we get oil, Mother," Adelaide said.

"If he gets oil," Gary added. "Still croaking, are you?" remarked Adelaide coldly. "But I can't blame any oil man for having a nasty disposition. If you'd see the way they have to live, Mother—even the ones that have fairly nice houses—and most of them don't. They have little, dreadful places, stuck around under derricks."

"That's where we'll be stuck I suppose," sighed Mona Lee.

Harvey Mason came back, very jubilant, with his drilling permit in his pocket.

"Had to finagle some of those guys," he admitted. "Railroad Commission thinks there are too many wells down now—but I got around 'em."

"I'll bet you paid somebody plenty," Mona Lee dashed his exuberance.

"Just paid my lawyer. Permit didn't cost anything."

"Hadden't we better see about the water before we go any further?" Gary asked. "There's no use moving derricks on to this job, till we're sure about the water."

"Ought not to have any trouble about that," Harvey was bland. "I've loaned old man Harper plenty—got a chattel mortgage on all his stock and tools now. Mortgage ain't due till August—but he can't pay it and he knows it."

Old man Harper lived in a long, unspanned house with a kind of open hallway through the middle of it. The porch sagged in sad scallops, each depression occupied by a languid, long-tailed dog.

Every dog's tail thumped like a signal drum on the wooden floor as they drove up to the gate, and from within the house a woman's voice called nasally, "Pa, here comes somebody!"

Harvey and Gary waited on the porch, surveyed with weary indifference by the flat eyes of the dogs. Then old man Harper came to the door.

"Howdy, Harvey."

"Hello, Harper," Mason pulled up a chair and sat down between two dogs. "Thought I'd come over to talk over a little piece of business with you."

"If it's about that note," Harper said, "I'm fixing to pay it. When it's due."

"It's not about the note. If you ain't able to pay it—or maybe pay all of it, we can fix that up. What I want to talk about is me running a pipe down here through your pasture and pumping a little water out of that creek. What you figure you'll charge me for running the pipe line, and the water?"

Old Harper did not look up, but there was about his mouth a sly and contemptuous twist. "Don't figure to charge ye nothing, Harvey."

"Well, I'll pay whatever the damages come to."

"Don't figure to charge you nothing," Harper went on in a maddening drawl, "because I don't figure to let you have any water, because I've leased every doggone acre of this place to some fellers down in Corpus Christi. And if there's any more water in that creek than what my cattle can drink, I reckon they'll want it themselves. They're paying me twenty dollars an acre for ten years, and that's more than I can make off'n a bunch of cows."

Harvey's neck was red and his eyes glared. "Harper," he said, "I sure wish that note was due right now. I'd foreclose and sell you out!"

"Well, it ain't due. And when it comes due I'll have the money to pay it. So looks like there ain't very much you can do. Anyway you got it all right in your own family. It was your son-in-law, Ol Kimball, fixed up the leases for me."

"Who'd you lease to, if it's any of my business?"

"It ain't, but I don't mind telling for I reckon you'll find out anyhow. I leased to Grice-Morgan—and if you can get any water out of that outfit, you're a good one."

"Well, I'll get it—if I have to run a pipe plumb to the Gulf of Mexico after it!"

Harvey stamped away. He roared viciously on the starter and traced the engine till it roared. "What do you know?" he demanded wrathfully. "That dirty little heel! He comes to my house Sundays and eats my chicken and drinks my liquor, and then he sells me out—like this. Son, if it wasn't for Grace, I'd sure drive into town and give Mr. Oliver Kimball a good poke in the jaw!"

"I'm afraid you won't get any concessions out of that Grice-Morgan outfit," Gary was dubious.

"Yeah; I've heard about them—'You might figure on running a pipe line and tapping the city supply—that is, if they'd let you.'"

"I'll go talk to 'em. They've got water to sell—they can sell it to me."

"Do you want me to see about the concrete job? We can't put a derrick up without concrete corners and we have to concrete the surface casing in."

"You s— you knew a good outfit."

"Powers is the best. All new equipment, and they work fast and save you money."

"Well, you get Addie to take you over to see them."

The British government is urging British farmers to raise 1,500,000 more pigs next year.

Christmas Suggestions

The outburst of Christmas cheer, the chiming of the bells, the worship, the fun and all that goes to make a Merry Christmas, are customs inherited from a long line of ancestors and from many countries. Warm hospitality at this season is a tradition of long standing, so we gather our families, our friends, and those for whom we are making Christmas, to share the happiness of the day.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, offer a few suggestions to simplify some of the homemakers' problems.

In keeping with the Christmas colour scheme the salad should be red. The choice is between cranberries, tomato juice and beets. A jelly salad will be the easiest to prepare and serve, since it requires only garnishing with greens and dressing at the last minute.

Dessert will probably be plum pudding or mince pie, but it is wise to have an alternative dessert for the children and those who may have already indulged rather heartily in the first course. An old-time homemade vanilla custard ice cream served with a red fruit sauce is just right.

Sunday School Lesson

December 23
The Message of Christmas to the World
Lesson: Luke 2:1-14.

Golden Text

"Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."—Luke 2:14.

Journey to Bethlehem

Luke 2:1-4.—In taking a Jewish census, all families went to the tribe to which they belonged and to the place where their family had resided. Joseph in fulfilling this demand of the Roman authorities was fulfilling the Old Testament prophecy respecting the birthplace of the Lord.

Angel of the Lord

5-7.—The word manger means simply the stable or place where the cattle or camels lodged. There was no room at the inn and Mary and Joseph were obliged to lodge in the stable. It was not necessarily a proof of poverty—under such conditions even the rich with the poor had to suffer inconveniences.

8-11.—The angel of the Lord came upon the shepherds suddenly. It is not surprising that the appearance of the angel, enveloped in Heavenly glory, filled these simple shepherds with fear because the presence of an angel was associated with disaster or death to the Jewish mind.

But the Divine messenger came not to speak of disaster, but of deliverance; not of death but of life. The great joy of believers in their darkest hour is a striking fulfillment of the angel's message.

The Gospel is first a personal message. The angel spoke as though Christ was born especially for their sakes—"Unto you is born."

The Angels' Joy

12-14.—The sign given to these simple hearted shepherds was so simple that they could not fail to find the child wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger.

The angels gave praise to God in the Highest, that is, in the highest Heavens. They praised God for the great plan of redemption, whereby sinful man was to be saved through the Babe whose birth the messenger announced.

Chronicles of Ginger Farm

By Gwendoline P. Clarke

Dear friends and patient readers everywhere: You are busy and I am busy but I think we can just take time out for a few minutes to exchange Christmas greetings, don't you? Naturally I want to wish everyone of you a very Happy Christmas and since this is a season of goodwill I am going to take it for granted that that is also your wish for us at Ginger Farm. Am I right?

"A Happy Christmas!" As I wrote the words I wondered in my own mind what we generally consider constitutes a happy Christmas. A lot depends upon one's sense of values doesn't it? Fundamentally, the conditions are very simple.

Tradition makes us expect there will be a certain amount of giving and getting, but in that I often feel we have lost sight of the original idea behind this exchange of gifts. We seem to be leaning towards a tendency to spend more and more each year on the presents we buy for our friends. I am afraid we too often forget that gifts are meant as an expression of our thought for one another—not as a blatant display of spending power. Haven't we all had the experience some time or other of being cheered and touched by a simple and inexpensive present from an unexpected quarter? If that be so, then isn't it safe to assume that we also can give pleasure in the same way? We can no more buy a happy Christmas by extravagant giving than we can buy our way into the Kingdom of Heaven. Happiness at Christmas or at any other time, for that matter, is reflected in our own hearts in proportion to our will to bring happiness to the lives of others.

And what about Christmas fare—does it contribute towards our enjoyment? At the risk of being thought slightly gluttonous I would say "yes"—particularly with so many of our boys back from overseas. Ask these boys and you will soon find that Christmas dinner according to their own family tradition has, to them, become a symbol. Don't try to change it—don't think to yourself "I won't bother making puddings this year"—or cakes, or whatever it is that has been your custom. If you do so slip up you take something away from Christmas as your family remembers it. No need to be extravagant—remember the starving millions in Europe—but use your imagination, your ingenuity, and make something that looks like the real thing.

And a tree! What is home without your own personal Christmas tree? Yes, it is quite a bother, I know, but don't let the old custom die. Let your tree be big or small, as you wish, but make it gay and sparkling. Bring out the gaudy baubles, the tinsel, the star and the Christmas angel, even though the one it was your delight to trim the tree for in years gone by is no longer here to share it with you. You naturally feel you no longer have the heart for such pretense. But I urge you, have a tree anyway. Can't you feel that "he" would wish it—and who can say what happiness your tree might bring to some other lonely soul.

And then let us remember the children—children everywhere. Children and Christmas belong together. If you have little ones in your home then you are to be envied. Make them happy—it takes so little. Don't spoil them with extravagant giving but make it their day in other ways. Join in their fun; share their laughter; make this a Christmas for them to remember. And if there are no children in your home there are plenty outside of it.

It may be a queer notion on my part but I always have a feeling that there can be little happiness in our own hearts unless we have contributed in some way towards the happiness of at least one little boy or girl at Christmas time, other than those of our own family.

Last but not least we should surely remember the reason for which Christmas came into being. "For unto us a Child is born." Without that thought to guide us Christmas is meaningless and void. Remember it, and Christmas giving, Christmas fare, thought for the children, our own little personal problems, our joys and our sorrows, fall into their right perspective and we can say in all sincerity—"A Happy Christmas to you all!"

ONE best way to get relief from torturing sinus pain is to clear congestion from nasal passages and give sinuses a chance to drain. A few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol in each nostril is usually enough to bring this comforting relief.

3-Purpose Medicine... Va-tro-nol is so successful because it does three important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose; (2) helps clear out pain-causing congestion and (3) soothes irritation. Many sinus sufferers say it's best relief they've found. Try it!

THE RISK-FREE LIFE

One thing was common to the pro grams of all parties contesting the general election. That was the appeal to the voters' fears. There is the fear of unemployment, still present in the minds of all who remember the de pression of the thirties. There is the fear of becoming destitute in old age,
a fear that was well-publicized by ad vertisements of insurance companies
long before the politicians attempted to use it. There are fears of heavy medical expenses, fears of low prices
for farm products, fears of the cost of bringing up a family, fears of in flation, deflation and confiscation.

It would be an academic and time consuming exercise to compare the merits of the plans advanced in re sponse to these fears. Added together the fears represent the economic haz ards normal to the average man's ex istence. Some can be met, some avoided, some exchanged for other hazards. If a man fears too strongly the expenses involved in marrying and bringing up a family, he is free to remain single. Fortunately for the fu ture of the race, most men forget their arithmetic until it is too late.

No one is compelled to make farm ing his life work and no one who has talked with farmers can have any illusions about the economic security of agriculture. Yet those to whom farming appeals continue to take their chances, deliberately choosing the attendant risks instead of those associated with employment in shop or factory.

The politicians may be practical in appealing to the fears, rather than the hopes of the electorate, but when everybody is promising social security
the value of all promises tends to fall.
If we really wanted social security,
most of us could have made our plans accordingly years ago. There is no reluctance on the part of insur ance agents to show us how we can build up an estate, provide for our old age, meet the cost of unforeseen accidents or illness. It is true that to pay the premiums for a risk-free ex istence entails for most of us the re nunciation of some immediate pleas ures. In time the voters may realize that there are premiums to be paid on state plans of social security, and that these entail the same renuncia
tions.—The Printed Word.

ROYDEN DAVIS REPRESENTS COUNTY

For the first time in its history,
Hastings County is being represented at the International Congress of 4-H clubs being held in Chicago. The 4-H organization is composed of repre sentatives of junior agriculturalists in Hastings, all parts of the United States and Canada.

The county representative is youth ful Royden Davis, son of Reeve and Mrs. William Davis, of Bangor, Mc Clure and Wicklow township who re sides at Maple Leaf. He was the out standing junior agriculturalist in Hastings County in 1945.
Ordinarily county representation is made through the medium of its two outstanding junior agriculturalists, a young man and a girl. Miss Fay Rol lins, of Cooper, was the choice to ac company Royden Davis to Chicago, but a day or so previous to leaving, a member of the family was stricken with mumps.

The trip to 4-H convention was made possible through efforts of county agricultural representative
Linn Fair, of Stirling, it was disclosed
in the Agricultural Committee's re port to the County Council at Wed nesday morning's session.

Previously, Ontario representation
at the Congress was made by junior boys and girls from Western Ontario.
Mr. Fair, Reeve Charles Rush, Hung erford, a member of the agricultural committee stated, repeatedly request ed that this county be represented and this year his request was grant ed.

"It is a worthy object," he said
"and will be a great incentive to ju nior boys and girls of the rural district to compete for the honor of represent ing their county at Chicago."

For the past 23 years, the report stated, boys and girls who have been outstanding in junior work in their respective districts have been award ed the trip to Chicago. It recommend ed that the County Council grant the sum of $40 each to the boy and girl making the trip and that the grant be an annual one.

While the council in open session
could not ratify the recommendation

AUTOMOBILE HIT BY PASSING TRAIN, PASSENGERS SAFE

Although his automobile is almost a complete wreck as result of it be ing struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway locomotive, Michael Provost, R.R. 3 Tweed, still considers himself a fortunate man.

Saturday night as he was taking his family home from Tweed after a shopping tour, he heard the whis tle of an oncoming locomotive as he nearly the Black Creek crossing and applying brakes his auto stall ed directly on the track. He just had time to get his wife and six child ren with two other adults out of the car when it was carried away
by the on rushing locomotive.

Passengers in the vehicle besides Mrs. Provost and the six children were Theresa Courneyea and Ray mond Goulah, both of R.R. 4, Tweed.
The auto was carried 50 yards down
the tracks before the twisted wreck rolled off into the ditch.

ST. PETER'S W. M. S.

The annual meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Spencer with the president, Mrs. Wm. Miller in charge.
The call to worship was followed by the singing of hymn 381. The Bible reading Ps. 96 was given by Mrs.
Caverly. After the singing of hymn 541 the reports were given. The treas urer's report showed a decided in crease in givings over last year and the Glad Tidings secretary reported an increase in subscriptions.

Mrs. McCaffrey took the chair for the election of officers. The report of the nominating committee was pre sented.

The officers for 1946 are:
President—Miss Vankleek.
1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. McCaffrey.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. A. Johnston.
3rd Vice Pres.—Miss Caverly.
Secretary—Miss M. Mackintosh.
Treasurer—Mrs. Fred Curry.
Expense and Supply—Mrs. J. Arm strong and Mrs. J. Hallstone.
Press—Mrs. F. Sharpe.

Sick and Visiting—Mesdames Finch, Lewis, Caverly, T. Blue.
Home Helpers—Mrs. Spencer.

Mrs. Larsen offered a prayer for the guidance of officers during the year. Mrs. Miller spoke of the new Study Book "Think of Africa."

Forty visits were made to sick and shut-ins during November. She closed the meeting with prayer and the Mizpah Benediction.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs.
Caverly, in serving.

$8,550 DONATED TO PATRIOTIC PURPOSES

Hastings County, through the me dium of its county council contributed $8,550 to patriotic purposes during 1945, the report of the County Pa triotic Committee as presented by Chairman James Nickle reeve of Ma
doc Township, revealed at the Wed nesday session of the County Council.
The Hastings-Belleville Red Cross Society was given $3,000 at the re quest of these organizations while el even Red Cross units within the county were granted $200 each, the report said.

The Community Services of Belle ville and the county were granted
$1,900 while the Navy League re ceived $1,000.

Service Libraries of the Independ ent Order of the Daughters of the Empire received $50 while the Salva tion Army branch at Tweed, Ont., was the recipient of $100.

The committee granted $300-to the fund for the reception of the Hast ings and Prince Edward Regiment in October.

The report stated that the com mittee had recommended and had been granted one-half mill on the county assessment which amounted to $9,141.40. Of this amount $8,550
has been expended for patriotic pur poses, which leaves a balance of $591.40.

The report was adopted by the council as a whole.

for the grant, the item was referred to the Ways and Means Committee and there isn't any doubt of its being accepted by the body as a whole.
Establish County Forest.

The Agricultural Committee, the re port stated, at its meeting a few days ago held considerable discussion on the question of establishing a coun ty forest or forests in Hastings County. It felt that some sort of ac tion should be taken. It recommended that a reforestation and conservation committee be formed at the January session of council which will have power to purchase land for reforest ation purposes.

The committee further recommend ed that a concrete and definite plan of reforestation and conservation be drawn up as soon as possible.

It requested an investigation of the possibility of the erection of wind breaks along county roads, and that some definite plan of action be decid ed upon.

GROSS EXPENDITURES FOR HASTINGS COUNTY ROADS AND BRIDGES TILL END OF NOVEMBER TOTAL $103,931.00

Gross expenditures of the Hastings County Roads and Bridges Committee for 1945 up to November 30 is $103,931.45 with accounts receivable of $4,909. The report of the committee as presented by Chairman W. H. Tanner revealed at the Thursday afternoon session.

The by-law for proposed expenditures for the year called for the amount of $109,696.80, which included a proposed expenditure of $7,500 for suburban roads. The Department of Highways approved of the by-law in full.

The current year, the report stated, has been the most difficult in some time to get the sizable program of work, planned, actually accomplished. This was due to the fact that in addition to the shortage of labor which was as acute this year as last, wet weather in April, May and June forced all regular work at least eight weeks behind.

In addition the very large hay crop took away all help of farm origin earlier than usual and abnormal amount of rain this autumn tied many jobs up badly.

Snow Removal Heavy

The tremendous cost of snow removal last winter and the difficulties encountered therein cost $20,150 of which approximately $15,000 came out of this year's appropriation.

Referring to the Dust Prevention and Consolidation program of the committee, the report stated that 222 tons of calcium chloride were purchased this year with 12 tons being sold to townships. The carrying on of this treatment annually is now showing great value. The excellent results obtained from the bituminous materials would have been impossible without the previous use of calcium for some years.

A total of 9 tank cars of primer and asphalt dust layer amounting to 60,611 gallons was used on county roads and village streets. On county roads alone, 45,030 gallons were used at a cost of $5,833.40. This treated approximately 20 miles of road at a cost of $292 per mile.

Roads Resurfaced

Approximately 17,637 cubic yards of crushed material and pit run gravel were used in resurfacing roads during the year.

Some seal coating is done annually, the report revealed, and this year one-third miles was completed all twenty-four miles of paving in the county have been kept in first-class shape, by seal coating when necessary.

In the past six years 15 miles of double surface treatment have been constructed. This year, 2.8 miles were added. While some of it is on county roads inside the villages of Madoc, Tweed, Deloro and Frankford, most of it is on county roads in the country. Total cost was $8,070.

Since the war finished and fence wire is again available in quantity, requests from farmers and property owners abutting county roads for replacement of old rail fences with wire etc., have increased.

In addition to widening on the Madoc Road the committee received seven or eight requests for fencing in 1945. Most of these new miles of pavement on the remainder were laid over or were approved, one refused on account of lack of help.

Minor repairs were carried out on several bridges in the county system at a cost of $720 including a large culvert that failed on Mudcat Lane.

Mile of Pavement Laid

Approximately one mile of pavement was laid on the Madoc Road which continued the existing pavement northerly and in addition culverts were extended, shoulders widened and ditching carried out. Fences on about 90 per cent of the distance were set back or rebuilt to give a 66 foot right-of-way.

Twenty thousand feet of snow fence was purchased during 1945 together with the necessary metal posts. Sand stock piles have been placed and treated with chemicals to prevent freezing, but the committee has neither the equipment nor the help to sand the straightaways, the report stated. Hills, curves, railway crossings, bridge approaches and other potential danger spots only can be sanded.

County snow removal equipment includes two tandem drive motor graders and a front-wheel drive truck, a cat crawler tractor and old plow mounted on a hired truck. Two hired outfits augment the committee's property.

The report was tabled for the time being and discussion will be held at a later date in the session due to the fact that Warden Wilson and his council were scheduled to go into caucus to discuss the appointment of the new county treasurer.

ELDORADO

Dad is home again!

Christmas candles will burn brighter this year and Christmas turkeys have a new and special flavour for the thousands of Canadians who will be sitting down to their first Christmas dinner with the family circle complete. And many a childish face will glow in the candlelight because "dad" takes his place at the head of the table again — with his strange tales from Italy, from France, Germany or the Pacific.

But even as the candles are lit and the heaped plates go round, Canadians will pause and remember — remember those family groups that will never be complete—those thousands of desolate and homeless in Europe — that great army of children who have been frightened and hurt and starved by a war not of their making.

Let us therefore make a solemn resolve never again to allow the powers of darkness — greed, selfishness and mistrust—to put out the candles of Christmas, those brave lights that symbolize the warm love and kindness that came into the world two thousand years ago.

TELEPHONE GREETING
...now is a good time

CHRISTMAS is only a few days away. Long Distance calling will be heavier than ever this year. On long calls—especially to Western Canada, the Maritimes and remote United States centres—there are sure to be delays at Christmas time.

So if you plan to exchange greetings by Long Distance, why not do so now?

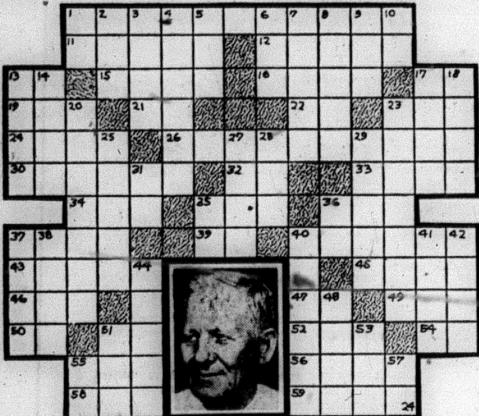

We will do our best whenever you call, but your chances for avoiding delays are better if you telephone some time this week.

Jones bought a business from an agent. After some months he failed, and meeting the agent some time later, he said: "Do you remember selling me a business a few months ago?"

"Yes," replied the agent. "But what's the trouble. Isn't it as I represented it to be?"

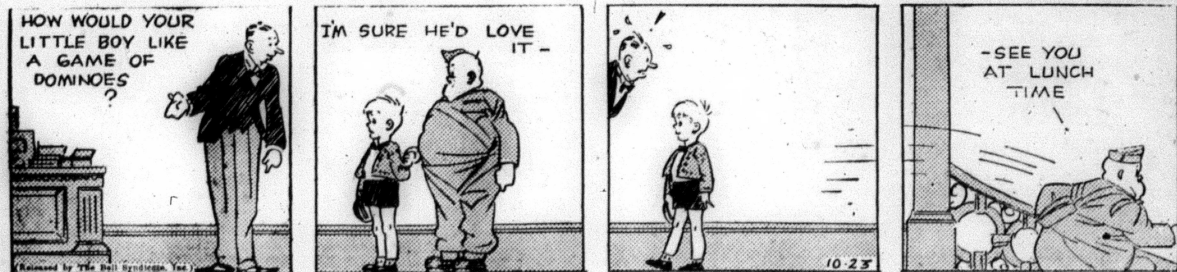

"Oh, yes," said the other. "You said it was a busy locality where there were plenty of passersby."

"Well!" queried the agent. "What's wrong with that?"

HONOUR FOR BRITISH WAR LEADERS

The Viceroy of India, Field Marshal Lord Wavell, and the C-in-C India, General Claude Auchinleck, have received the highest American honour that can be awarded to non-Americans—the Legion of Merit, Degree of Chief Commander. The honour was conferred by the President of the United States and was presented in Delhi on his behalf by U.S. Lieutenant-General R. A. Wheeler. Picture shows the Viceroy of India, Field Marshal Lord Wavell, receiving the decoration from Lieut.-General Wheeler.

Canada's War Gratuities Top List

When it comes to paying gratuities to war veterans, Canada is right up at the top of the list. Here is the scale of grants for a private with three years in the forces, two of which have been served overseas:

| Country:      | Single and One Child | If Married |
|---------------|----------------------|------------|
| Canada        | $611                | $711      |
| New Zealand   | 586                  | 640        |
| Great Britain | 383                  | 472        |
| Australia     | 375                  | 395        |
| South Africa  | 336                  | 336        |
| United States | 300                  | 300        |

Let the croakers try to play with that one!

The High Barbaree

by Charles Nordhoff and James Norman Hall

A Catalina Flying Boat lies ditched in the Pacific after its death struggle with a Jap submarine. Its radio has been destroyed, its water tanks punctured, and three of its crew killed. But the Cat still floats, and in it the two survivors, Alec Brooke, the young pilot from Iowa, and his navigator, Gene Mauriac of California, sweat out the hours as they wait for rescue.

Days of overcast—on one of which they see a plane that does not spot them—are succeeded by an endless stretch of brassy heat. They know they have drifted far out of range of Henderson Field, and as the hours pile up and the water runs low, Alec begins to reminisce about his home town in Iowa, about his sea-faring uncle, and about his boyhood dream of a tiny Pacific Island, an island marked "Existence Doubtful" on the old maps, an island toward which they might even now be drifting.

Proposed Loan To Great Britain

"Deal" of Vital Importance to all United Nations

The loan of $4,400,000,000 arranged last week by British representatives with the United States government has two features—an advance of $3,750,000,000 to Britain, to be used to re-establish domestic economy, and $650,000,000 by way of a Lend-Lease balance. The essential aspect of the $4,400,000,000 loan is the good it can do the two Countries (and the world) in setting up the basis for new trade agreements—which will permit a free flow of world-trade goods.

The major trade concessions made by Great Britain will work to the advantage of the United States, by opening up new markets to American industry and agriculture. It is not inconceivable that these renewed markets will add more billions to the national income of the United States in one year than the amount of the loan.

In fighting the war, says the New York Sun, Great Britain entirely exhausted its working capital. The British still are in a strong position as business men all over the world. They have the shops and an established reputation for sound business dealings, but they haven't the goods with which to stock their shops.

It is now proposed that we help them by supplying working capital. If we do so we can hope that the channels of world trade once more will be open to ourselves as well as to Great Britain and other nations. If world trade cannot be established in an orderly manner, the alternative for Great Britain will be inability to buy goods from us which would mean that she would have to confine her trade to the sterling area.

Have You Heard?

"Daddy, what is leisure?" asked the child.
"My boy," replied the sire, "leisure is the two minutes' rest a man gets while his wife thinks up something for him to do."

Last Stop!

A gentleman slipped on the stair of a subway and started to slide down to the bottom. Half-way down, he collided with a lady, knocking her down, and the two continued their way together.

After they had reached the bottom, the lady, still dazed, continued to sit on the gentleman's chest. Looking up at her he said, politely: "I'm sorry, madam, but this is as far as I go."

Solving the Great Problem

"I'm not sending any Christmas or New Year gifts to my relations this Christmas," said the artful Andrew.

"But why not?" asked his friend. "Surely they'll be expecting something."

Andrew shook his head. "No, I've seen to that," he replied. "They'll no' be expecting anything. I wrote 'an' told them I was suffering from loss of memory—an' to make sure they'd believe I forgot to pat out my stamps on the letters."

BABY CHICKS

WANT DAY-OLD CHICKS? WE'VE some available, and also some 2-week heavy breed started chicks—work in fine for the early 1946 broiler markets. Write for list and order soon for 1946. Bray Hatchery, 139 John N. Hamilton, Ont.

EARLY CHICKS BRING THE greatest returns. Canada needs early chicks next year and always. They need them not only to supply her own requirements but to sustain her export market at the time it needs eggs most. Any product is better appreciated at home or abroad when it is supplied at the time it is most needed. Early chicks have two advantages: 1st.—they are early when prices are the highest; 2nd.—they lay longest spreading the return over the whole year. Failure to secure sufficient early chicks last spring resulted in a shortage of eggs this Fall. Any surplus that may occur in the Fall of 1946 is protected by the contract price of $4.50 per chick which insures a price of 45c. for a Large Seaboard. Send for early delivery price list. You will not only make extra money with early hatched chicks, but you will save money by taking them early. Free catalogue. Also laying and ready to lay pullets for immediate delivery. Write to Chick Hatcheries Limited, Fergus, Ontario.

BABY CHICK BUYERS

ORDER YOUR GOVERNMENT APPROVED chicks now and obtain an early order discount. Each breeder has a limited supply of early, blood-tested. Write for our 1946 price list and catalogue. Monks Poultry Farms, Monks, Ontario.

Astronomical Figures Reveal Cost of War

Want to know what World War II cost the world?

According to a survey by researcher James H. Brady and American University, Washington, it was about $1,154,000,000,000 (trillion) for armament and war materials and about $230,000,000,000 in property damage.

That doesn't include cost of armaments and property damage in China, for which figures were not available.

The survey placed U.S. expenditures for war material at $317,600,000,000. Russia spent $192,000,000,000 and the United Kingdom $120,000,000,000.

The war cost the Axis powers about $468,939,000,000, with Germany spending $272,900,000,000. Italy $94,000,000,000 and Japan $56,000,000,000.

One-Way Atlantic Trip by TCA $375

A new transatlantic single fare of close to $375 will shortly be announced by Trans-Canada Air Lines, The Financial Post states. This compares with a present fare of $525. It is $100 more than the fare of $275 proposed in October by Pan-American, but is the same rate as finally adopted this week by Pan-American following pressure from British and other airlines.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARGARET CAUL

Mrs. Margaret Caul, wife of the late James Caul, Stoco, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. Great-rix, Madoc, on Saturday, December 8.
She had been ill since last May and had been a patient in Belleville Hospital until three weeks ago. She was 87 years of age.

The late Mrs. Caul was born at Stoco where she lived all her life. Her husband predeceased her some time ago.

Surviving are the following children
Mrs. S. Greatrix, Madoc; Mrs. Joe Turcotte, Sudbury; John Caul, and another son in the States. There are no brothers and sisters living.

The funeral took place from her home in Stoco on Wednesday, December 12 to St. Edmund's Church, of which she was a faithful member. Requiem Mass was sung by Rev. F.G.
McCabe. Interment took place in St.
Edmund's cemetery. The bearers were: Peter Cassidy, Pat. Mulrone, Don Quinn, Tom Durkin, Charles and Guy Hughes.

CANDLELIGHT SERVICE IN ST. PETERS

The Candlelight service in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church has become an established feature of the Christmas season in Madoc. On this occasion last Sunday evening the citizens of the community responded to the general invitation by attending in greater numbers than ever. The members of St. Peter's rejoice that this service has been so favourably accepted by all regardless of religious denomination. When the choir entered the festively decorated church singing as a processional "Joy to the World," the large audience, which nearly filled the church, joined heartily in the singing. The large choir led the congregation in the well known Christmas hymns with the organist, Stanley Hawthorne, at the console.

As special musical features for this occasion the choir also rendered two anthems, "Softly the Night is Sleeping" and "Star of Bethlehem." In addition the choral program included a duet "Far in the East" sung by Barbara Kincaid and Barbara Nicol and a solo by Mrs. C. Rendell.

For the Christmas services the church had been beautifully decorated with evergreens in the deep window recesses and with more greens and lighted Christmas trees in the choir-loft. The soft glow of the scores of candles which had been placed in the windows and on the organ for the evening service lent a very fitting atmosphere to the whole service. During the early part of the service the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICE NEW YEAR'S EVE.

New Year's eve a watchnight service will be held in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church. The service will begin at 11 o'clock and close as the New Year dawns. People who may not be able to attend the service from the beginning are assured of a welcome any time during the service. Last year's service was much appreciated and it is felt that many members of the community may want this custom continued. The Presbyterian Church is glad to open its doors and to welcome any who may wish to spend the last hour of the old year in quiet meditation, thanksgiving and praise to God Almighty.

Angus MacKillican was baptized.

The message of the minister, Rev. Eric Larson, for the occasion was based on the prophecy of Isaiah, "The people that walked in the darkness have seen a great light." Gradually the minister developed his theme to bring out that Jesus Christ, the saviour that was born, was "the Light that shone in Darkness." As He Himself said later, "The Light of the World."

At the morning service Mr. Larsen had chosen his theme for this first peace time Christmas, "Peace on Earth." The choir also assisted by singing an anthem "High O'er the Hills of Judea." At both services announcement was made of the special Watchnight service in St. Peter's Church on New Year's eve.

FIRE DESTROYS ENTIRE BUSINESS BLOCK IN MADOC

One of the worst fires in years destroyed the Frank Smith property on Highway 62, Madoc Village, early Monday morning. The loss which runs into thousands included the destruction of Charles Derry's garage, the apartments overhead, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Roy White and five small children, the Anglican Guild Rooms, Frank Smith's work rooms and service station, operated by Mr. Jack Baker, besides thousands of dollars of machinery, tools and stock.

The fire had made such progress when discovered by Mr. White that he and his family escaped only in their night attire and were unable to save any of the contents of their home.

Below zero weather hampered the volunteer fire brigade and the fire which started over Derry's garage had gained such headway that by the time hose were laid from the fire hall and the pumper put in operation the entire block was destroyed.

The alarm was given about 12.30 a.m. and the firemen were kept busy until nearly 6 a.m. before it was felt they could leave the fire.

Cars in the building were saved as was some of the stock and furnishings of the Anglican Guild Room.

There was some insurance on the building and contents, but Mr. Chas. Derry, Mr. Frank Smith, Mr. Jack Baker and Mr. Roy White suffered heavy losses.

CHRISTMAS SERVICE IN TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

A large congregation assembled in Trinity United Church on Sunday morning for the Christmas Service. The church was appropriately decorated with Christmas decorations, and a lovely manger scene was placed in front of the pulpit and lighted with candles. The choir provided excellent music and Miss Phyllis Beatty sang a solo.

The minister's theme was "The Essential Meaning of Christmas" the text being taken from Luke 2:38, "And she spake about the child to all who were living in expectation."

During the service two infant children were baptized: Arthur James, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stevenson, and Brenda Elaine Taylor, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Taylor.

On Friday evening, December 23rd the pupils of Trinity United Church Sunday School presented a Christmas pageant entitled "Christmas in the Long Ago." The pageant was well presented and took in the whole school in songs and talking parts. The large audience that filled the Sunday School rooms was well entertained for two hours. The Johnston Orchestra provided music between acts. The arrival of Santa Claus and the presentation of gifts brought to a close a very pleasant evening.

THE VETERAN'S CORNER

Two sections of a proposed veterans charter were dealt with by the Commons last week.

In the program were bills to amend the Veterans' Land Act and to put in statute form the regulations to provide veterans with post-discharge benefits. Both were adopted after a quiet debate.

Both veterans bills were unanimously recommended to the House of Commons Committee on veterans affairs. Veterans Minister Mackenzie explained both measures and asked that they be given unanimous approval of the House.

The Re-establishment Bill permits the payment of allowances, graduated in proportion to family needs, to veterans, under five conditions:

1. That the veteran is willing and able to work, and had been unable to find suitable employment.
2. That the veteran is unemployed through temporary physical incapacity.
3. That the veteran has entered a business, farming or requires more money for his subsistence while awaiting a first crop or a living returning from enterprise.
4. That the veteran has been awarded a vocational training course for the purpose of assisting him or her to obtain employment or better employment.

OBITUARY

JOHN RICHARD WEST

Well-known resident of this district for a number of years, and widely known in Masonic circles, John Richard West died at 539 St. Clemens Avenue, Toronto, on Monday, December 17. He was in his 75th year. Born in Tyendinaga Township, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John B. West, the late resident spent nearly all his life in Stirling, Rawdon and Madoc townships. He had been residing in Toronto for the last eighteen months and had been ill but a short time.

The late Mr. West followed the vocation of cheesemaking for thirty-three years in various parts of the county, operating the Harold factory for twenty-six years with the remaining time being divided between the Brook-Valley and Cold spring plants. He learned the trade with the late Mrs. West, who was a cheesemaker in her own right.

He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, and a life member of Lodge 69 A.F.&A.M. and the Keystone Chapter, R.A.M. of Stirling. His wife predeceased him in 1939.

Surviving are two sons, Reeve William West, Stirling; Elliott West, Stirling, and one daughter, Mrs. F.A. Osterhout, 539 St. Clemens Avenue, Toronto. Another son, John, died in 1943.

FIRE BRIGADE QUENCHES AUTOMOBILE FIRE

On Thursday evening about 5 o'clock Mr. Percy Broadworth's car caught fire in front of Armstrong's garage. The local fire department was called and the fire was brought under control.

Considerable damage might have been caused had it not been for the alertness of the Madoc Fire Department.

IN MEMORIAM

TATE—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, William James Tate, who passed away, Dec. 31, 1943.

Two years have passed and gone
Since one we loved so well
Was taken from our home on earth
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we placed upon his grave
May wither and decay
But the love for him who sleeps beneath
Shall never fade away.
Ever remembered and sadly missed
by wife, Pearl, Charles and Harry.

GREER YEARWOOD SHOT TWO WOLVES

Mr. Greer Yearwood had quite an experience while hunting on Christmas Day. He was hunting with his hound when he heard the dog making a fuss he turned around to see what was the matter and saw a wolf not more than 20 feet from him. He shot at the wolf and claims to have hit it although he could not find it afterwards. This was probably due to the thick underbrush.

This is the second wolf Mr. Yearwood has shot within three weeks in the Madoc area. While hunting yesterday he reports that he saw two wolves in the vicinity of upper Moira Lake.

CHRONICLES of GINGER FARM

As I write it is the week before Christmas - and what weather! The wind is so cold it seems utterly impossible to keep the house warm - for the first time since we had the furnace installed. That is because the wind is in the southwest and all our storm windows are on the north and north-west of the house. But at any rate it isn't storming so we have much to be thankful for, especially with coal in the cellar and a recently cut woodpile in the yard. I wish I could be sure that everyone else was equally fortunate. I feel the cold so much myself that it just makes me wonder how people can suffer lack of heat, clothes, food and bedding and still survive.

Well, I have just turned on the radio and judging from the storm news from Buffalo we, by comparison, certainly have little to complain about on this side of the border - at least, not at present. And then as if to convey the impression that Old Man Winter is not always in a harsh mood I saw from the kitchen window, the most glorious sunrise I have seen in weeks - flame tipped purple clouds against a background of the palest green. A typical Turner-esque sky - except that Turner's pictures are mostly of sunsets, are they not? When I said something to son Bob about the beautiful sunrise he told me I should have seen the moon! He said that when he went to the barn it was like walking out on to a great beam of light. So now I suppose I should get up to see the moon - and I thought I was doing pretty well about the sun.

Excuse me a minute... I think it is light enough now for the hens to feed - so I had better go and feed 'em.

Br-r-r... It's good to be back in the warm again! I wish I were as anxious to get down to business first thing in the morning as our busy biddies. Barely light enough for them to see and yet they are up and doing and had laid exactly one dozen eggs just to start the day right I suppose. In fact one of them couldn't wait for the dawn so she dropped her egg in the night.

And now, having listened to Geoffrey Ford pinch-hitting for Jim Hunter, it is time to get breakfast for Partner. You see we have breakfast in relays here. Bob is generally up and out to the barn before Partner gets up. That way we can be sure of Partner getting a little extra rest. But then Bob is naturally through first - hence the two breakfasts.

Partner, like nearly all men, is just about as stubborn as he can be. I want him to see some of his cows and he insists on keeping them. Oh yes, he does say this one and that will be shipped out "when they are dry", but I'm beginning to think he means "dry" after the next time they have come in fresh. I "threatened" this morning to go down and help with the milking later on if he still kept so many milk cows. "Well," said Partner, "if it ever becomes necessary to help with the milking that will be the time to call the truck in and ship them all out!" You see, Partner has the idea that milking is no job for a woman - which will strike many farm people as a queer notion.

Taking it all in all this milk business is quite a job. I often think that when a farmer starts shipping milk it's like a man taking to drink. The more he has the more he wants. A farmer who separates his milk and sells the cream doesn't worry particularly when his milk supply falls off. He has his pigs and his poultry to utilize the skim milk and, generally speaking, he has something coming in most of the time from his by-products. But a farmer selling milk... well, he probably starts by shipping two cans. Then maybe he has half a can over and he thinks if only he had a little more milk he could ship three cans. So he scours around and buys another cow. By now he has reached the early stages of milk-drunkness. Later he imbibes still further. He thinks if twelve cows bring in so-and-so he might as well get a milking machine and milk twenty-four. That is just fine for an up and coming young dairy farmer - that is the way it should be. But there are too many older men also trying the same stunt - overtaking their strength for the sake of selling milk and still more milk, and more than likely the women, who in all probability have reached the age when they should be taking things easy, must still go to the barn to help milk the cows that keep the milk cheques rolling in.

But maybe I had better quit before I say too much.

Have You Heard?

"Johnny," said his mother, severely, "someone has taken a big piece of ginger cake out of the pantry."

Johnny blushed guiltily, and fidgeted around.

"Oh, Johnny," she exclaimed, "I didn't think it was in you!"

"It ain't all," replied Johnny, "part of it's in Elsie."

Fifth-Avenue Shopper: "What a frightful price you ask for that hat!"

Salesgirl: "I know, Madam, but it's a frightful hat."

"And now," said the history teacher brightly, "can anyone tell me who Joan of Arc was?"

The class was silent, and then one small boy ventured tentatively, "Maybe she was Noah's wife?"

He: "Honestly, now, do you women like egotistical men as well as the other kind?"

She: "What other kind?"

Salesman: "Are you interested in book ends?"

Xmas shopper: "Yes that's all ways the bit I read first."

During the war the British flew 18 railway locomotives to Burma.

Pardon Me

Severely jostled in the thundering herd of London's rush hour, a fragile young woman finally found herself in a solid block. Her sense of humour was not impaired, however. She poked her face close to the ear of an adjoining male. "Look," she demanded tartly, "my rib-is it crushing your elbow?"

WAR AND PEACE

On November 11, 1918, millions of people in many countries believed that the war to end all wars had been fought and won. The high resolve and good intentions of peace-loving men found expression in the League of Nations. But the forum which was to replace the fighting front failed in its all-important role.

These thoughts are in the minds of thinking people at this time as the Allied Nations set about building a new peace structure which must not fail if decency, freedom and humanity itself are to survive.

Good intentions did not preserve
the peace of the world after the last war: they will not prevent another war. There is a lesson for all in the blunt philosophy that the road to hell
is paved with good intentions.

During the first phase of the war
when Hitler swept across the low countries, France and to the gates of Moscow and Alexandria, people who have always had good intentions began to realize that the evil can be brilliantly efficient and that good can be paralytically futile.

The past war, however, has another important lesson for all who will take it to heart: faith is still the strongest power in the world if it is supported by co-operative action.

That is a lesson that must not be forgotten by the peoples of the United Nations as they join in Thanksgiving
for victory and embark upon the task of building a better world.—Lakefield News.

HUNGER AND PLENTY

There is only one answer to atomic war, and that is one world, indivisible, with charity and justice for all. And there is no better way to start to build it than with true charity that helps to re-establish while it helps.
Yet consider these news items, all plucked from one day's issue:

"Washington—Americans may have more to eat in 1946 than ever before in the country's history, the Agriculture Department said today."

"London—Despite redoubled relief efforts by the victorious Allied Powers
the unhappy continent of Europe faces one of its bleakest, saddest winters since the chaos of the Thirty Years' War, reports from key cities show. Cold famine and misery vie with each other in the ruins of last year's battlefields."

"Washington—A new fight over the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration started in the House today, and an unfinished one is hanging fire in the Senate. . . . A Food Study Committee urged that requests for additional funds be looked upon with 'jaundiced eyes',
and that only amounts 'absolutely necessary' be provided."

How can men look with "jaundiced eyes" on a world half starved, half surfeited and expect to envision that one world mankind is striving for?
—Christian Science Monitor.

RELAXING CONTROLS

Do we realize that Canada's cost of living has risen less than that of any other country? Canadians are, the best fed people in the world. Because of everyone's co-operation, our government was able to subsidize essentials such as milk and oranges, making the necessities available for all. One hears on all sides: "The war's over now. Why doesn't the government get busy and remove these controls?"
But are we, the people of Canada,
ready for the lifting of controls?

"Aw, Dad," begged Jimmy, "let me have the car all by myself, just once."
His dad yielded to him. He got the car. What a wonderful feeling of power to have his hands on the wheel and no one to check him. But Jimmy raced the car through a red light. Now Jimmy is in the hospital while a mechanic tows away the wreck—and dad pays the bill.

Are we mature enough to have unrestricted buying power put into our hands? Have we the inner control necessary? Or will we indulge in an orgy of spending race through the red light of inflation and land up in the hospital—Depression? A sound economy depends on sound people, people who give honest measure whether in weight or work, who care about their neighbors, whose policy is not "grab and get."

To quote Donald Gordon, Chairman of the War Time Prices and Trade Board: "In the reconversion of our economy each segment of the economic structure has its part to play and every citizen will have to bring all his intelligence and realism to bear on the task." How long the controls will last will depend "on the degree of restraint shown by the public in the use of accumulated purchasing power."

Through disciplined use of controls comes our opportunity to show that our patriotism is not a feeble flame
but a burning passion. Our dollars properly spent can help to build confidence, enterprise and national security. So shall such a spirit grow within all Canadians that, when controls are relaxed, there shall have been bred in us the consciousness of our individual responsibility in our country's economy.

GETTING TOGETHER

After weeks of long range attacks on each other, The Ford Motor Car Company and the striking employees are getting together. That is good news. Nothing can be settled in any area of life unless people get together and in good will, try to iron out their difficulties. Even under those circumstances it is not always possible to iron them out, as the recent meeting of the Foreign Ministers in Great Britain, bears witness. Perhaps the failure there, however, was due to the inability of the Russian Delegate to adopt the British idea of compromise and bargaining. In a dispute there must be give and take and a spirit of genuine good will.

We have no doubt but that good sense will prevail in Windsor. After all, The Ford Motor Car Management, as well as the Workers, are anxious to get the wheels of industry turning and they will not turn so long as the machines are idle.

The one point on the side of the Strikers which has not had sufficient notice, is the seasonal character of the work in the factory. It looks big on paper, to see that the automobile worker receives say $1.00 an hour.
But, if he works only seven or eight months of the year, his hourly wage is considerably reduced when it is spread across the idle months. A family has to eat and wear clothes,
whether the head of the house works
or not.

This seasonal phase of the automobile industry is one which should be given much more consideration than it receives. It should be possible to spread the production of automobiles
and parts over the whole twelve months, then the worker would be sure of a steady job and annual wages. Perhaps this may be one of the questions to be dealt with when parties to the dispute are in conference. It would appear that, if this were settled, then other matters would soon be disposed of.

However, the Workers and Management of The Ford Motor Works are now in consultation and our hopes go with them for a satisfactory solution to the management-labor problem.

HOW TO LICK TROUBLE

No trouble is a fixed matter. It is always measured by your attitude toward it. There was a little boy who lost twenty-five cents. He was dependent for days. During the depression, he lost hundreds of times as many dollars. He was not greatly upset. The money was gone. There was nothing he could do about it. Common sense advised him to accept his loss and go about making more money. He was wiser perhaps in handling it from his experience, so there was some gain anyway.

People are not so much ruined by what happens to them, but by how they receive what happens to them.
Those who become angry or melancholy, bitter or hopeless, in the face of misfortune, become the victims of misfortune. Those who accept what has happened as having happened and go about trying to improve the situation usually improve it.

One of the greatest mistakes in the world is to take trouble in a personal way, as if it was a special unkind act
of fate directed against oneself.
Trouble is part of life. Wasn't it trouble for Columbus to cross the vast-ocean in a small boat no larger than a fishing smack? Wasn't it trouble for the forty-miners to spend weeks crossing the plains in covered wagons, fighting the Indians as they went?

Trouble is part of life, and he who accepts that fact, greeting it without any personal anger about it, becomes victor over most of the troubles that enter into his life. Don't put all your attention on your troubles, but use a good deal of it seeing that you are dealing with your troubles in a constructive attitude.—Lakefield News

WHAT IS CHRISTIANITY?

Frequently we have the radio on a $15 a.m. and hear "Morning Devotions" over C.B.O. We think most people will agree with us that the program is not usually of a very high order and no great credit to organized Religion, or to the C. B. C. Occasionally, however, the speaker shows an intelligent appreciation of what Religion is and of human need in the life of today, and, as a result, he makes good use of those fifteen morning minutes.

One morning last week the speaker,
minister of a church in Aylmer, Que., expressed his belief that conventional Christianity today is suffering badly
from two interests, a rather truculent
over-interest in abstract details of so-called theology which keeps Christian groups apart and causes them to compete and conflict with one another
—and a heart-rending under-interest in the great work of practical love challenging the whole of mankind now as never before. The speaker then went on to answer the question, "Well, what IS Christianity?" in some such words as these:

Christianity is a quiet visit to a neighbor in need.

Christianity is a boy training his sensitive hands to perform life-saving operations in a medical course.

Christianity is a farmer taking special precautions to send out food
from his farm in the purest possible condition.

Christianity is a boss thinking of his employee's welfare and planning for it.

Christianity is a teacher leading her class in duties of good citizenship, for which, the Department does not allow her to assign marks.

Christianity is a mother taking anxious thought to see that her daughter grows into fine, wholesome, useful womanhood.

Christianity is a father spending his hard-earned dollars to see that his boy, and other boys get a chance to grow into healthy, strong, upright men.

As a Christianity that could be accepted and practised by all people, regardless of color, race or creed, it has much to recommend it.—The Lanark Era.

HOW TO GET PEACE!

Prime Minister Rt. Hon. Clement Attlee of Great Britain, who spoke in the House of Commons in Ottawa on Monday, spoke quite like a prophet.
He was not ashamed to deal in a religious way with social and economic problems. The problem of the world to-day, he said, was to re-unite science and morality. That is a serious and timely warning. It is one to which too much attention cannot be given. In this post-war world we are witnessing the breakdown of moral standards. The number of highway robberies, the break-ins, the attacks on individuals, is indicative of this breakdown of moral standards. Not only so, but the increase in juvenile delinquency, the staggering number of divorces that are being granted, are a further evidence of the same tendency. Speaking recently in Atlantic City, Dr. Clifford R. Adams, Director of the Counselling Services
of Pennsylvania State College, said:
"that in ten years juvenile delinquency
will be rampant in the United States,
and morality will reach the lowest level in history." Turning the United States "the most married and divorced nation in the world," Dr.
Adams said "there are 1,000 divorce
a day, excluding Sunday, and the rate is going up."

It is not a pretty picture. There is a cold calculating analysis of sociological trends in the statement. Unless it is checked, unless the world is brought to its senses, there is little hope for the future.

That is what Premier Attlee means Science has now given man more power than he has ever had before.
Unless he is self-controlled, disciplined, unselfish and moral minded, the power will be a curse rather than a blessing. Only good men can be entrusted with such a responsibility;
only good nations dare be trusted with
the control and use of such power.

Prime Minister Attlee deserves to be listened to.

RECORD BANK DEPOSITS

For the first time in history, total public deposits in the chartered banks in Canada on September 30 went over the $5 billion mark reaching $5,027 millions, $167 millions above the previous month's high record and $589
millions above last year.

Both savings and demand deposits were higher than in the previous month. But while savings deposits set a new high record for the third successive month, demand deposits failed to equal the high record of $2.1 billion established October 31, 1944. According to bankers the increase shown in August and September carried on into October, so that probably by the time the Victory Loan campaign, Oc-

THE LEGION'S CALL FOR TOTAL VICTORY

In 1941, when the fate of civilization was hanging in the balance, we addressed to the Prime Minister of Canada "The Legion's Call for Total War," urging the immediate, complete and scientific mobilization of all our resources—spiritual, intellectual, financial, agricultural, industrial. Many of its proposals were afterwards carried out by the Government.

We now address ourselves to the people of Canada because Total Victory is still to be won. Victory in the field must be matched by victory at home, over everything that weakens and divides the nation. The things that weaken can be found in everyone; every Canadian, therefore, can start with himself. Every Canadian must accept his responsibility. Our greatest task lies ahead. Total Victory demands a total effort for a new world here in Canada.

The Legion issues this Call for Total Victory in the name of the hundreds of thousands of Canadian men and women who, in past wars and in the war just ended, have served their King and Country. As Canadians and members of the British Empire Service League, we are proud of the role played by the British Commonwealth and Empire in the struggle for freedom and pledge ourselves to do our part in creating the great moral forces required for Total Victory.

After the First Great War most of us felt that our efforts were finished with the winning of the war. Now we know that the job is not over because military victory has not been achieved.
The conflict will continue with the forces of good and evil arrayed against each other. For Canada, having won the war of arms, has still to achieve the ideals of peace. Total Victory will come only when these ideals have been achieved.

Our fathers, inspired by a vision of Canada devoted to the service of God, chose as their motto, "He shall have dominion from sea to sea." This is the heritage we have received, and on this heritage we must build our nation.

The children of our country, who are its greatest potential wealth,
must grow up in this fighting faith.
They will then respond to the challenge to live to make their country great. This purpose will give them the incentive to learn the dignity of work, the value of a task well done and the dynamic qualities of teamwork. Only thus can national unity be achieved.

Hundreds of thousands of houses will need to be built. Yet homes are more than houses, and Canadians have the challenging task of creating the kind of homes and family life that will make this nation strong, clean, united.

To build the Canada we want is an enterprise which requires the work of
all. It will need the combined initiative and imagination of government, management and labour, freed from the menace of fear and greed.

Made rich by the special gifts of every race within it, Canada will then demonstrate its answer to the chaos of conflicting races which, throughout history has challenged the peace of the world. Thus will Canada fulfil the

MORE LUMBER THAN LAST YEAR WILL BE CUT

Approximately fifty per cent more lumber than last year will be cut in the timberlands of North Hastings
this winter if weather conditions remain favorable, northern reeves in the city attending County Council sessions stated.

Cutting operations have been in full swing for the past several weeks
in all sections of the northern district.
There is roughly eight inches of snow in the woods at the present time which is not deterring operations.

Hauling will not take place until late in January when transportation will be facilitated by the use of frozen lakes.

At the present time, the reeves
said, the larger lakes are still open although smaller ones are frozen over.

WARDEN F. WILSON RETIRES FROM MUNICIPAL GOVT.

Mr. J. Fred Wilson, M.L.A., Hastings West, reeve of Sidney township and warden of the county of Hastings announced his retirement from municipal government. He will retire from his seat at the head of the township council on December 31.

Warden Wilson who will also relinquish his seat as head of the county council in the forthcoming January session of that body stated that he is withdrawing from municipal life
in order to devote his time to his farm and parliamentary activities.

"I greatly appreciate the privilege
given me in serving my own township and the county of Hastings. I have received splendid co-operation from both my own township councillors and those of the county body. It has been a distinct pleasure to sit and serve with them," Warden Wilson stated.

Ten years ago he entered the municipal life of his township as a member of the council, and was elected by a substantial majority. Since that time he has been given acclamations.
He served six years as a councillor and the succeeding four years as the reeve of his township. Last year he was honored with the wardenship of the county.

This year he offered himself as the Conservative member for Hastings West, and was elected to that seat in the provincial elections.

vision of our King who said: "With God's grace, you may yet become the example which all the world will follow."

In the faith that the people of Canada are with us, we issue this Call to Action for Total Victory.

TWEED MAN TRAPS THREE LARGE WOLVES

Nocturnal raiders of sheep flocks in Huntingdon Township, three large reddish-grey wolves, were trapped and killed in that area by Ross Palmatier, of Tweed, the other day.

The wolves, apparently driven by hunger from their northern lairs, had terrorized sheep and other livestock in Huntingdon Township for the past few weeks. Palmatier decided to put an end to their raids and accordingly set traps. He finally caught the animals and collected $105 in government and county bounties.

NATIONAL BREWERIES VETERANS HONOUR COMPANY MANAGEMENT

Former Servicemen, A Third Of Total Employees, Present Testimonial Of Appreciation.

A reception in Montreal on December 15th, tendered by National Breweries Limited to more than 500 former servicemen who now form more than one third of the employees of Dow, Frontenac, Black Horse and Boswell breweries and other company units, as a "welcome home" event, took an unexpected turn when a delegation of the veterans presented the management with a testimonial to the "justice, understanding, sincerity and cordiality" demonstrated in the Company's relations with employees.

Spokesman for the servicemen was Patrick "Paddy" O'Brien, an amputation casualty of the 1914-1918 war, and he headed a delegation representative of all branches of the services in World War I and the war of 1939-1945.

An illuminated scroll, backed by the signatures of Company veterans of both wars and the several hundred discharged service personnel recently employed by the Company, was presented to Norman J. Dawes, president. It declared that: "Be it known by the management of the National Breweries Limited that we, the men and women in the employ of this Company who have served in the wars of 1914-1918 or 1939-1945, or both, are deeply appreciative of the justice, understanding, sincerity and cordiality which have ever been evident in your relations with us."

We find it a source of pride and satisfaction to be associated with this progressive enterprise, to which we renew our pledge of loyalty."

In reply to the presentation, President Dawes, speaking for the management, remarked that "what we have been able to do, what we are doing, and what we plan to do for you employees who have been in the services, can only be a small down payment on the eternal debt of gratitude which we and all Canada owe to those who have served."

Earlier, Mr. Dawes expressed the pleasure of the Company in welcoming back old employees who had been absent while serving with the armed services, and extended a welcome to new employees who had also been in uniform. The Company, he said, had adopted a definite plan to assist service veterans in re-establishing themselves in civilian life. "All that we can do," said Mr. Dawes, "is to

DORIS YELLOWKNIFE LETS DRILL CONTRACT

Officials of Doris Yellowknife Gold Mines Limited report the placing of a contract for 5000 feet of preliminary diamond drilling to begin as soon as equipment can be moved on its properties in the Gordon Lake area of Yellowknife.

J.E. Ayhart, whose name has been prominently associated with a number of outstanding discoveries over the past two years, is president of Doris, and reports that four strong shear zones have been established on the Company's properties. Two of these trend to the south east, crossing into a group which represents the large individual holding of Consolidated Mining and Smelting in the Yellowknife camp, and on which smelters have already completed 30,000 feet of drilling. Two other shear zones trend south west into the adjoining Irene group, where free gold showings have been reported.

Julius Messer, M.E., recently examined the Doris group, and reported on November 7th, as follows:

"A great shear zone 100 to 200 feet wide crosses the property diagonally in N.W.-S.E. direction for over 3000 feet. Quite large samples were taken on this zone over a width of 100-200 feet and a length of 1500 feet. Ten samples assayed gave the following values in gold: $19.95 -- $5.60 -- $138.25 -- $1.75 -- $8.40 -- $1.05 -- $11.90 -- $88.20 -- $105.00 -- $2.10."

"On the southeastern part of the property a vein 10 feet wide has been uncovered consisting principally of quartz showing good mineralization of iron pyrites and some native copper. Three samples gave the following results: On the footwall, $7.35; in centre of the vein, $5; in the hanging wall, $48.70. All of these are calculated at $35.00 per oz. gold."

In his conclusions Mr. Messer said that this group "has the right geology with great shearing, and high values obtained leads one to the belief that this property has the makings of a mine."

The Company has better than $60,000.00 available for thorough exploration and drilling.

PERMANENT STATION

It is understood by George J. Tustin, M.P., for Prince Edward-Lennox, that Mountain View Air Station will be a permanent one and that the government does not intend disposing of Pictou Air Station at the present time.

supply the means of your rehabilitation. After that it remains with yourself to do the rest. Our experience with those who have returned has been a happy one, as you all seem to be as anxious to adjust yourselves as we are to help you.

"It is apparent to us that the military training you have received has been of benefit to all of you, both mentally and physically. You are better men now."

Company spokesmen present pointed out that 275 employees left the Company on leave of absence to go on active service, and that, of that number, 136 have come back and 139 are still on active service. At the suggestion of Mr. Dawes, the assembly observed a two minutes silence in tribute to the memory of the six former employees and all other Canadians who gave their lives on active service.

On National Breweries Limited payrolls at present, there are 498 veterans, of whom nearly 300 are new employees who did not work for the Company before the war. Together with the 199 employees still on leave of absence while on active service, the aggregate of service people reaches 637, which is in excess of one third of the male employees of the Company.

In a brief talk on the Company's rehabilitation plan, Mr. J.C. Cushing, executive vice-president, said that in putting into effect its philosophy of "humanizing of the Company in its relation with all whom it contacts," the management had involuntarily anticipated some of the features of Government's rehabilitation scheme. "While complying in every respect with the requirements of all legislation," he remarked, "we have also included those ideas of our own which we believe would best insure your getting back into the swing of things with the minimum amount of adjustment on your part." He referred to the appointment of Flying Officer Lucien Marcotte, D.F.C., of the famed "Alouette" bomber squadron, as a Company rehabilitation officer with a full time responsibility for interviewing, advising and assisting veterans in getting back into step with their civilian occupations.

"If you will help to create and develop here that spirit of loyalty and co-operative effort which you have witnessed in the Services," Mr. Cushing concluded, "then our confidence in the future is justified. Team work will always win."

More than 500 former servicemen now employed by Dow, Frontenac, Black Horse and Boswell breweries and other units of National Breweries Limited gave the management a handsome "character reference" in the course of a company reception for them in Montreal on December 15. The veterans, who comprise more than a third of employees, all signed their names in a book in appreciation of the "justice, understanding, sincerity and cordiality" which has always marked the relations of the management with veteran employees. In recent months several hundred service personnel who have received their discharge have joined the company in addition to former employees who have returned to their jobs. President Norman J. Dawes, extreme right, holds the illuminated scroll of testimonial under his arm while he receives from Patrick "Paddy" O'Brien, World War I amputation casualty and spokesman for the veterans of both wars, the sealskin-bound volume of signatures. Beside Mr. O'Brien is Miss Huette Schmidt, formerly of the Canadian Women's Army Corps, representing women veterans.

COMING UP—A RAILROAD RIDER'S DREAM

Composite of all the practicable wishes of railroad passengers is the idealistic train shown in model form above. Designed by the Styling Section of General Motors, it is being studied by railroad executives and has been made into a test car by Burlington. It features elevated, all-glass domes for better observation and there are many improvements in seats, berths, recreation facilities and sanitary provisions. The cutaway model (bottom) shows the elevated observation lounge and lower cocktail lounge.

SUCCESS AFTER 45 YEAR BAN

B. L. Carr—Art Laurin—P. E. Ouderikirk
Art Laurin, publisher of the "Morrisburg Leader," aided and abetted by the Morrisburg Fishing and Game Club, was instrumental in raising the ban which has for the past 45 years prevented deer hunting in Dundas County. The sample draped over the car in the photograph was bagged after 45 minutes of hunting, which proves the gentlemen photographed are not only good shots but also good sportsmen—they could have gotten more.

THRILLED BY SIGHT OF SNOW

It's an ill wind that doesn't satisfy somebody. While most people shuddered when they awoke to find the streets covered with snow, these girls from India, students at the University of Toronto school of nursing, were thrilled at the sight. "It's beautiful," they chorused. The native sari worn by Mrs. May Aster Jainu Deen, right, and her kit may appear incongruous in Canada, but she was anxious to try the sport. Her friend, Mrs. R. Iyengar, went along to watch.

TEST PILOT

Blonde, blue-eyed Helen Harrison of Toronto, Ont., has flown 3,000 hours in all parts of the world, but hasn't had enough. "I just can't keep away from it," she declared as she announced signing up as test pilot with a British firm which is to assemble passenger planes in Toronto. Vancouver-born, she obtained her commercial license in England in 1936, instructed R.A.F. reserve pilots there and then taught flying in Canada and the U.S. Later she joined the U.S. air transport auxiliary and ferried planes around Britain for the U.S. forces, flying 400 miles an hour in Mosquitos on delivery trips there.

U.S. SEEKS CURE FOR PALESTINE "HEADACHE"

Dynamite-packed Palestine holds explosive potentialities that will involve all the great powers unless a speedy solution to the Arabian-Jewish conflict is found. Indicated on map above are some of the developments and factors which focus world's anxiety on this tiny trouble spot. First positive step by the U.S. and British governments toward ending the strife was the appointment of a 12-man Anglo-American committee to study the whole situation, and recommend remedial action. Supreme Arab Council for Palestine threw a surprise monkey wrench into the peace machinery by repudiating in advance any decisions of the Anglo-U.S. committee. Heading Britain's six Palestine committeemen is Judge Sir John E. Singleton, left, of the London-High Court of Justice. Chairman of the U.S. group is Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, right, of the U.S. Circuit Court at Houston, Tex.

Sunday School Lesson

World Fellowship of Christians
Lesson: Acts 10:34-43.
Golden Text

The same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon Him. Romans 10:12.

Peter's Sermon

Acts 10:34.—The eyes of Peter had been opened as a result of his vision. Now he had learned that God had respect for the Gentiles as well as for the Jews; that He loved both Jews and Gentiles; that salvation was not exclusive to the Jewish nation.

35.—The man who honors God and keeps His law, and is a true worshipper of God according to his light and privileges is approved by God. Cornelius had faith in God and his sincerity was proved in that he embraced Christ as his Saviour when the truth was revealed to him.

Christ, the Messiah
36-38.—At His baptism the Lord received the anointing of the Holy Spirit. That He was the Messiah was proved by His works of power and goodness. In those simple words, "Who went about doing good," we have such a true description of the Lord Jesus. He did good because perfect goodness was one of His attributes.

First-Hand Witnesses
39-40.—The truth of the historical facts of Christ's death and resurrection is confirmed by men who were first-hand witnesses. Our faith is built not only on our spiritual experience of Christ, but on a solid foundation of incontestable fact.

It was unnecessary for Christ to show Himself to "all the people" to prove the truth of His resurrection. Even though He had done so many would not have accepted Him.

Salvation for All
42-43.—When our Lord commanded His disciples to preach the Gospel he gave them a wide commission, to teach all nations. The prophets foretold that all nations would be blessed through the coming of Christ, and that salvation would be given to all who called on Him. The calling and salvation of the Gentiles was seen afar off. Here is a great truth. "Through His Name whosoever believeth in Him shall receive remission of sins." The word "whosoever" embraces everybody.

Modern Etiquette

By Roberta Lee

- When a man is calling to see a woman who is stopping at a hotel and sends up his card to her room, should the woman's name be written on the card?
- What is the correct way to eat a peach at the table?
- If the bride is to be married in a plain tweed suit, what should the bridesmaid wear?
- Would it be all right for two women to share a table in the bar of a hotel, for their cocktails?
- Should a young man be presented to a girl's mother when he makes his first call on the girl?
- Is it courteous to give the reason when declining an invitation?

ANSWERS

- Yes; it is better to do so, to avoid any possible mistake in the delivery.
- A small silver knife should be provided, the peach cut into quarters and conveyed to the mouth with the fingers.
- A plain tailored suit or dress.
- Yes, it is all right for two women. However, it would be more discreet for a woman who is alone to have her cocktail served in the dining room.
- Yes, and also to other members of the family if the girl wishes.
- Yes, it is the courteous thing to do, but is not obligatory.

The Newspaper Its Making and Its Meaning

By Members of the Staff of the New York Times

For young men and women interested in newspaper work as a profession, this book is essential. It covers every possible phase of modern journalism and the coverage is done by experts.

For the general reader the book is a liberal education in a fascinating subject. The making of a newspaper, both to the outsider and those engaged in it, is still among the most romantic and exciting professions in the world, and the well-known newspaper-men and women who contribute to this book, although they do not minimize the hard work that goes into their jobs, do not reduce the excitement content of newspaper work one bit. The Newspaper, Its Making and Its Meaning. Published by S. J. Reginald Saunders. Price $2.50.

TABLE TALKS..

Holiday Cookies

During the holiday season when the family is home and friends from far and near drop in for a visit and often stay on for a meal, it is a satisfaction to any homemaker to know that her cookie jar is full.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, have suggested three recipes for those time-saving cookies made all in one pan and cut after they are baked.

Party Squares

- 1/2 cup fat
  - 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
  - 1 cup brown sugar
  - 1/2 cup raisins
- Cut fat into flour and sugar with a pastry blender or two knives, until it resembles fine oatmeal. Put three-quarters of the crumb mixture into the bottom of lightly greased, square cake pan, 8" x 8".

Filling

- 1 egg
  - 1 cup sour table cream
  - 1 teaspoon soda
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1 teaspoon nutmeg
  - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- Beat egg and add remaining ingredients. Pour mixture over crumbs in pan. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Top with 1/2 cup of chopped nuts, if desired. Bake in moderately slow oven, 325°F, for 60 minutes. Cut in squares. Makes 16 squares.

Oatmeal Honey Fruit Bars

- 2 eggs
  - 1/2 cup honey
  - 1/2 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
  - 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
  - 1 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
  - 1 cup mixed fruit (raisins, peel, dates, cherries, etc.)
- Beat eggs, add honey and rolled oats. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add to first mixture and mix well. Add nuts and fruit. Spread in shallow pan, 8" x 10", and bake in a moderately slow oven, 325°F, for 20 minutes. Cut in squares or fingers. Makes 36 bars.

Meringue Spice Squares

- 4 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat
  - 1/2 cup brown sugar
  - 1 egg yolk
  - 1/2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
  - 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
  - 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/2 teaspoon cloves
  - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup sour milk or buttermilk
  - 1 egg white
  - 2 tablespoons finely chopped nuts (optional)
- Cream fat, add brown sugar gradually, creaming until light. Add egg yolk and mix thoroughly. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the sour milk. Stir until smooth then turn into a greased cake pan, 8" x 8". Beat egg white until it holds a peak, then gradually beat in the 2 tablespoons of sugar, beating until stiff. Spread over the batter in the pan and sprinkle the top with nuts. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F, for 25 minutes. Allow to cool before cutting into 2-inch squares. Makes 16 squares.

Cowbirds victimize about 75 bird species in eastern America by laying eggs in their nests for them to hatch.

The New Year

To leave the old with a burst of song.
To recall the right, and forgive the wrong;
To forget the thing that binds you fast
To the vain regrets of the year that's past,
To have the strength to let go your hold
Of the not-worth-while of the days grown old.
To dare go forth with a purpose true,
To the unknown task of the year that's new;
To help your brother along the road;
To do his work and lift his load;
To add your gift to the world's good cheer
Is to have and to give a Happy New Year.
—Robert Brewster Beattie.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

- Q. How can I make a good shampoo?
- A. Cut a bar of pure Castile soap into small pieces. Pour enough boiling water on the soap to make a thick jelly. Beat until thickened. This will keep the hair and scalp absolutely clean and pure. Bottle and keep for future use.
- Q. How can I set the colors in wash materials?
- A. Add five cents worth of sugar of lead to four quarts of water, dissolve, and soak the goods for about 12 hours. They rinse and dry in the shade.
- Q. How can I make a small, dark room appear larger?
- A. Net curtains will make a small room appear larger, and if the room is dark, try using light, thin materials for the decorating.
- Q. How can I make egg malted milk?
- A. Put one egg into a mixing glass, add one ounce of vanilla or chocolate syrup, two heaping teaspoonsful of malted milk, two ounces of cream, and enough milk to nearly fill the glass. Shake well and serve with shaved ice if desired cold.
- Q. How can I mend worn or orn galoshes?
- A. Use black or tan adhesive tape as a mending tissue. It is easy to apply and will hold securely if the work is carefully done.

WHAT SCIENCE IS DOING

Blind Aid

The blind may soon have an electrical gadget to help them get around without bumping into obstacles. The basic idea, now being worked out by the Army Signal Corps, is a small box shooting out a narrow beam of light. Time reports. By turning the beam from side to side, the blind man can feel his way. When the beam hits a lamp-post, a fence or any such obstacle, its light reflects back to a lens and is focused on a photo-electric cell. A gentle buzz in an earphone warns him that the obstacle is near. The blind man can tell its direction by pointing his box. He can learn to tell how far away it is by the length of the buzz.

One problem in designing the instrument was to eliminate false signals from sunshine or artificial light. So the beam was made to pulsate like the radio waves from a radar transmitter, and the photo-electric tube was made insensitive to non-pulsating light.

At present, the "optical cane" is heavy (fifteen pounds) and cannot "see" narrow obstacles such as hanging wires. The signal corps intends to iron out all such comparatively minor faults before offering its invention to the blind.

By HELEN TOPPING MILLER

CHAPTER XII

"Mr. Mason, why not wait a little? Grice-Morgan may decide to put a test well on Harper's land. If they should do that—and the well came in, you'd know definitely that it was worth while going ahead with this proposition. And if they get a dry hole, you will have saved yourself a lot of trouble and money."

"If they did get a dry hole," argued Harvey stubbornly, "that wouldn't prove that there wasn't oil on my place. Maybe I've got oil and there isn't any on Harper's land. That would be a swell joke on the old buzzard, wouldn't it?"

Already, in his racing imagination, Harvey was completely detached from the present.

Adelaide was too busy to drive Gary over into the oil field.

"It's the dance at the country club, Gary—the spring dance. It's supposed to be Friday night and I'm on the decorating committee."

Gary grinned. "Now we return to the original question, which is—how am I going to get to east Texas as I could go on the bus but it would take all day to walk around the field after I got there. I'd lose a lot of time."

"Get—Mother to drive you over. It will do her good to get out. And don't forget, you're invited to the dance, Gary."

Gary said, a trifle stiffly. "Sorry—I'm afraid I'll be busy." Thinking that his best suit would look shabby at a dance, no matter what a cleaner could do for it—and, of course, Adelaide would be going with some other fellow—Bob Ferguson, probably.

When the big red concrete machine came roaring up the drive, Harvey had not been able as yet to complete arrangements about waiting.

Adelaide sat, excitedly, on an overturned chicken coop, watching the forms being put together and the cement poured in.

The rigging crew arrived, and Gary watched them piling off the truck, and gave a shout. "Bill Grant! You old son-of-a-gun!"

A tall, bronzed, muscular young fellow took a broad jump off the truck and came running. "Hi—Gary! What the heck are you doing here? They beat each other on the back and pumped hands, while Adelaide watched.

"Putting down this well, Adelaide, this is Bill Grant, the rottenest football player that ever fumbled a ball. Bill was in school with me. What are you doing with this bunch, Bill?"

"Still sticking 'em up. Worked at it three vacations—then I got out of school and there wasn't any job—so I'm back being a punk again. How do you do, Miss Mason?"

"So nice you know each other. Gary, to meet Mother. Were you on the same football team?"

"Two years. Them was the days, hey, Gary? And now we're dirty working men and the gals don't give us a look. Not that you're doing so bad, though, you mug. He always was a heartbreaker, Miss Mason."

The men on the truck began to yell.

"Gotta go, boys and gals," Bill said. "See you later." He strode away, his long legs swinging in easy rhythm.

"He's nice—I like him," Adelaide said. "I'll invite him to the dance."

"He should be through and gone by Friday."

"Oh, he'll stay—I know he will

if I ask him."
"Listen, Adelaide. Don't count on me for that dance. I'm all crippled up and I haven't the right clothes—"

"Oh, Gary, don't be such a mug! Why, I turned down a half a dozen dates to go to that dance with you. Don't you want to take me?"

"Oh, Great Scott—" he burned with confusion. "Of course I want to! But—I thought you'd have another date—"

"You're sweet, Gary." She patted his arm and he forebore to wince when she hit a lame spot. "It's too bad you are so awfully dumb!"

The shining steel went up and Gary's heart seemed to soar with it, to weave a glittering web against the April sky. He did not climb, because his grip was still precarious, but he was rigging that derrick in his mind, clinching every bolt, swinging up every humming beam.

At noon he sent word to the house by Slim that he was staying on the job and sat down with the rigging crew to share the lunch that had been brought out in the clattering truck.

Bill Grant had declined the invitation to have lunch at the house, because he was wearing working clothes and hadn't had time to shave for a couple of days.

"If I'd known I was going to meet a girl like that, I'd have put on some clean corduroys, and bear's grease on my hair. Some guys have all the luck. This Mason has money, hasn't he? Any man who'll put a wildcat down on his own must have a roll. Maybe I won't go down to the coast. Maybe I'll stick around for that dance. I can always get a job."

And that, Gary thought dubiously, was not such a good idea, either.

Helps Check Colds Quickly

You can often check a cold quickly if you follow these instructions. Just as soon as you feel the cold coming on and experience headache, pain in the back or limbs, soreness through the body, take a Paradol tablet, a good big drink of hot lemonade or ginger tea and go to bed.

The Paradol affords almost immediate relief from the pains and aches and helps you to get off to sleep. The dose may be repeated, if necessary, according to the directions. If there is soreness of the throat, gargle with two Paradol tablets dissolved in water. Just try Paradol the next time you have a cold and we believe that you will be well pleased. Paradol does not dampen.

FIRE IN HOME

NEARLY COST LIFE OF YOUNG CHILD

Fire which commenced presumably as the result of an over-heated stove nearly cost the life of the two year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Bradley, Church Street, Stirling, when Friday evening in the temporary absence of the parents fire started in the downstairs apartment and filled the upstairs with dense columns of smoke. The child was sleeping in the upstairs room and was carried to safety by the father.

When the fire started the mother was at the show and the father was in another part of the house speaking with his landlady. He heard the baby crying, and running to his own side of the house was horrified to find the living room aflame.

A bucket brigade was quickly formed and the fire brought under control but not before wallpaper and the furniture in the living room were damaged.

HASTINGS COUNTY ANNUAL CROP IMPROVEMENT MEETING

The annual meeting of the Hastings County Crop Improvement Association was held in the Department of Agriculture Office, Stirling, on Friday, December 7th.

The Secretary, H. L. Fair, Stirling, gave a detailed report on the year's work of the Association.

During the year tests were carried out on the following projects:

Fertilizer test on potatoes.
Rust Resistance Oat test—using the following varieties: Ajax, Beaver, Roxton and No. 601.

Hybrid Corn — husking varieties were used.

Fertilizer test on corn and potatoes—to compare plow sole application vs drill application.

Fertilizer test on natural pasture.

Long Term pasture demonstrations.

Winter wheat test—to compare Rideau with Dawson's Golden Chaff.

Eighteen farmers co-operated in carrying out these projects and 62 acres were used in making the tests.

Mr. Ken Fallis, Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, was the guest speaker and addressed the meeting on Long Term Pastures and Pasture Improvement.

The following list of officers were elected for 1946:

PREDICTS GERMANY WILL BE OCCUPIED TEN YEARS LONGER

Gen. Joseph T. McNarney predicted recently that Germany would be occupied at least 10 years and probably longer.

He spoke at a press conference as he assumed command of American troops in the European theatre from Gen. Eisenhower, new United States army chief-of-staff.

Gen. McNarney said the whole United States army policy would be directed toward turning the military government over to a civilian administration as soon as possible. He said the civilian who would direct the program had not yet been chosen.

The new commander predicted the rehabilitation of Europe would take a long time. He said he thought the standard of living could be raised above pre-war levels "if we have time."
